CINEMA AXED IN SHOPS PLAN

A MULTI-SCREEN cinema has been removed from the plans of a new designer shopping village in Cannock, it has emerged.

The picture house had been planned for the Mill Green retail centre off the A5 but council leader George Adamson said this week that it had been removed from the project.

By Marion Brennan

Bosses at the local authority say now they want to keep the way clear in case a cinema chain wants to move in at some time in the future.

Councillor Adamson said: "We are desperate to get this retail village off the ground.

"It's a major application providing 800 jobs, and we don't want anything to step in its way."

He said the multi-screen facility might go back into the plans in phase two of the building project.

Closed

But for the moment, the priority is to put the shopping village plan forward as it now stands.

The news of the withdrawal was welcomed by Graeme Cotton, who owns the town's Electric Palace in Walsall Road.

He said: "I'm delighted. We would have closed for sure had a big cinema opened anywhere else in Cannock.

"But it does make me wonder what else they have got up their sleeve," Mr Cotton added.

The council has received interest from a cinema developer through a consultancy it employs jointly with Staffordshire County Council.

Councillor Adamson indicated that if the multi-screen complex that was planned for the Mill Green designer village does not go ahead, then the council would look at the possibility of a second cinema in the town centre.

He said: "We've got a cinema in the town, and we don't want to damage that.

"It would be nice to have another at Mill Green where people could combine going shopping and watching a film, but we don't want to hold this application up any longer – it's too important," he added.

The multi-million pound Mill Green development will include restaurants and 130 designer-style shops.

The Electric Palace was the first purpose-built cinema in Cannock.

The original 650-seater cinema was opened in April 1914 – four months before the outbreak of the First World War – and was so popular it was extended twice in six years to accommodate 1,500 avid film-goers.

The arrival of television in the 1950s and more recently the growth of multi-screen cinemas and digital technology has seen many of the old cinemas shut.

Mr Cotton, aged 35, of Pye Green, said: "As an independent, it's like David fighting Goliath."

Artist puts his stamp on exhibition

FROM the Titanic to football boots – a man from Cannock is preparing to show off his art creations, which are all made from stamps.

Brian Sharpe will display seven of his pictures at Cannock Library in Manor Avenue next month for his first ever exhibition. The 72-year-old said each creation has taken between one and two weeks to complete and the largest includes up to 500 stamps.

His prize picture is of the Titanic, which includes an original Penny Black – the first adhesive stamp in Britain which was introduced in 1840.

Mr Sharpe, of Barber Close, Heath Hayes, said he wanted to recreate the world's most famous ship with the rarest stamp. Visitors to the exhibition can also expect to see a picture of a football boot among his other pieces.

He said there was more than meets the eye with some of his works, such as a rogue Scottish stamp placed mischievously in the English part of a British Isles picture. He has provided a description on each picture explaining which items in his collection he used.

He said: "I have had the pictures on the wall for a while now and didn't know what to do with them and I thought it would be good to let people have a look at them. I think people will be interested in them because they are a different type of art."

He added: "I think my wife would love me to sell them though really."

Mr Sharpe was simply looking for a hobby when he retired seven years ago from his own company which built ice cream vans. He ended up collecting 'thousands' of stamps which he did not know what to do with – so he started making the pictures. "I am just a total enthusiast who loves stamps and their colours and shapes," he said.

The exhibition will be held at Cannock Library from Monday to March 7.

New M&S food store opening delayed

THE opening of a new Marks & Spencer store in Cannock has been delayed.

The new food store is opening on the Orbital shopping centre, off the A5, in premises formerly occupied by Comet. It was due to open in April but autumn now looks more likely.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "Things are being held up by Marks & Spencer at the moment but they are planning to open in September.

"Marks & Spencer is working with the local Jobcentre and Cannock Council on the recruitment so it'll be local jobs that are created."

The new Simply Food branch will share the site with shops like Sainsbury's, Boots, Argos, Homebase and Harvey's furniture store.

Cannock has long aspired to having an M&S store. In 2012, its name was at the top of the wish list of brands council bosses hoped to attract to a proposed shopping centre on the 200-space Beecroft Road car park in the town centre but the plans never got off the ground.

The Comet store closed almost three years ago, one of 60 axed across the UK when the administrators were called in.

Joy as library gets reprieve

PENKRIDGE Library will be kept under council management after a campaign by furious residents.

Campaigners said they were 'delighted' that Staffordshire County Council eventually decided to retain it among 19 other branches in the county.

The Bellbrook-based service was originally set to be one of 24 libraries offloaded to a community group in the coming months, but council bosses have now approved new plans.

Work to start on sports complex

WORK on a £1.38 million sports complex at the former Cannock Stadium site will finally get under way on Monday.

The land, off Pye Green Road, has lain empty since closing in 2008, forcing groups to find new facilities.

George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase Council, said: "People have waited a long time for the return of sports facilities to this part of town, and the good news is they won't have to wait much longer."

Phase one will see two new play areas for toddlers and juniors, a multi-use games area, an adventure play area, mountain bike trail, illuminated pathways and cycle trails, car parking, community allotments and the provision of trim trail exercise equipment.

The design of the play areas incorporates the mining history of the areak.

The site had been earmarked for a housing development but plans were scrapped in 2012 when the newly elected Labour council announced the land would be returned to sport and leisure use.

A public consultation was carried out to find out what residents wanted.

Crews called out to arson

A DERELICT building was badly damaged in an arson attack in Chadsmoor.

Firefighters from Penkridge, Rugeley and Chase Terrace were called to Cannock Road on Sunday at 10.13pm and found the building 'well alight'. Crews left the scene by 1.14am.

Police closed Cannock Road between Bradford Street and Belt Road while the fire was tackled.

Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service confirmed it was started deliberately.

Tributes paid to former councillor

TRIBUTES have been paid to former councillor John O'Leary, who died earlier this month aged 89.

Son-in-law, Tony Street, 71, described Mr O'Leary as a 'larger than life character who was fiercely Irish but had Staffordshire and Hednesford in particular deep to his heart'.

He said: "John was well loved by a lot of people in the area and I don't think the area is going to see a man like John for a very long while. He fought tooth and nail to get money for the local area and any work he wanted or needed doing he would get done by local people."

Hednesford Town Council manager Peter Harrison said: "I'd known John for many years – since I first moved to the area. He was a very fair and reasonable character who worked tirelessly for the people of Hednesford. Many local people will be very upset to hear of his passing."

Mr O'Leary moved to Hednesford in 1946 from Fermoy, Ireland. He was chairman of Staffordshire County Council from 1989 to 1996.

Also a former chairman of Cannock Chase Council, town councillor and magistrate, Mr O'Leary was made an 'honorary alderman' and in 2007 he also received the MBE.

Needle exchange plan near college rejected

PLANS to open a needle exchange directly opposite a college campus in Cannock have been thrown out after councillors branded them 'ludicrous and wholly inappropriate'.

The application to turn the former Progressive Working Men's Club into a drug and alcohol service was refused by planning bosses after fierce objections by South Staffordshire College.

Cannock Chase Council's planning committee did however approve a separate application to open a rehabilitation house at the back of the college. Numbers 91-93 High Green will now be turned into a 12-bed supported house for recovering addicts and the former Bistro 95 will be opened as a tea room run by them.

But the first application to turn the former working men's club on the corner of Cannock Shopping Centre into a drug and alcohol service was unanimously rejected.

Voted

The application was submitted by Addiction Dependency Solutions to provide a medical prescribing centre and needle exchange.

Councillor Margaret Freeman voted against the plans and said: "It is the most ludicrous and wholly inappropriate place I have ever come across for a needle exchange service."

Councillor Michael Grocott agreed and said: "While I have every respect for the service, it is not the right location."

Trudie McGuiness, director of learning at South Staffordshire College, said having a drug service directly opposite the entrance to the college would intimidate students.

The second application, by Burton Addiction Centre to open a bedsit for recovering drug addicts, was given the go-ahead despite more than 40 letters of objection.

Bullying is still problem for prison

HIGH levels of bullying, easy-to-score drugs and the excessive use of force are still blighting HMP Oakwood, according to a new report.

HMP Inspectorate of Prisons says the use of force to restrain prisoners at Oakwood was double that of similar prisons.

And they said inmates told them it was easy to get hold of drugs inside the Featherstone site, while the number of incidents of bullying was said to be high.

But during the visit in December inspectors found the prison had made a number of improvements since it failed all 'healthy prison' tests during a previous inspection in June 2013.

Oakwood was said to be 'much calmer than before', with an overall reduction in violence meaning 'most prisoners feel safe'.

Support for prisoners with substance abuse issues was said to be 'very good', while health services had improved despite being affected by staff shortages.

Michael Spurr, chief executive officer of the National Offender Management Service, said lessons had been learnt from the initial difficulties experienced at Oakwood.

£9k grant for celebrations

Rev Peter Hart, right, with 'Saxon warriors' Christopher Harrison and Matthew Weaver

PARISHIONERS in Cannock are giving thanks after a £9,600 windfall to celebrate 900 years of their church.

St Luke's is marking a milestone nine centuries of worship in the town with a six-month programme of events.

The packed agenda, scheduled for May to October, will include a flower festival, heritage exhibition, four live music events, a medieval fair, mystery plays, an arts and crafts festival and special church services.

St Luke's vicar, Rev Peter Hart, said: "This anniversary is an opportunity to look back and to give thanks to a lot of people who have been involved with St Luke's over 900 years. We want to engage with the wider community, and a lot of hard work has gone into organising a calendar of events that hopefully will appeal to a wide variety of people."

The grant has been awarded by the Heritage Lottery Fund, while the church has also been given £1,500 from the Staffordshire Local Community Fund.

Election hopefuls in radio debate

Cannock Radio is inviting people to the Aquarius Ballroom in Hednesford from 7.30pm on April 27.

The debate will be broadcast on April 30 and on May 5 ahead of the election.

Tickets are free for any resident of Cannock Chase and available by application via email to events@cannockradio.com where residents can submit suggested questions and topics.

Paper application forms are also available at the Cannock Radio studio as well at Hednesford Town Council, and Pye Green Community Centre, with other locations to follow.

Tickets will be allocated by random lottery after the closing date of April 17 and successful audience members will be notified by April 23.

Rob Hughes, director of Cannock Radio, said: "This is a fantastic opportunity for residents of Cannock Chase to put their questions directly to their candidates.

"We are delighted that all the candidates have agreed to debate key issues of concern to the residents of Cannock Chase."

Golf club to get new hotel

A NEW hotel is to be built at Chase Golf Club.

It comes after a new £200,000 a la carte restaurant opened at the site in Penkridge, creating 10 jobs.

Events co-ordinator Clare Whittle said: "We just wanted to add to the services that we already provide." She said a date had not been set for the opening of the 17-bedroom hotel but it would not be finished any earlier than the end of 2016.

The new Woodlands Restaurant can accommodate 84 diners and offers a lunchtime menu, afternoon teas and evening a la carte menu.

Woman is killed on the A5 as car flips

A WOMAN died after her car overturned on the A5 near Cannock.

The 30-year-old suffered multiple serious injuries in the crash near the Gailey turn-off of the M6, at junction 12. The victim, from Nantwich, Cheshire, was alone in the Ford KA.

She had been travelling from Cannock towards Gailey when the car overturned at 2.35am on Saturday.

West Midlands Ambulance spokesman John Hawker said: "Unfortunately, despite everyone's best efforts, nothing could be done to save the woman's life and sadly she was confirmed dead at the scene."

The driver, from Dudley, suffered pelvis, chest and leg injuries after his Mercedes E320 hit a tree on the A51 at Longdon at 7am on Saturday.

Medical crews, including the Midlands Air Ambulance and two off-duty paramedics who were on their way home from work, attended the scene.

Revamp for post office

A POST office in Burntwood will close for two weeks under plans to modernise and revamp the branch.

The Sankey's Corner outlet in Cannock Road will open for an extra five hours on Saturday afternoons.

The branch will close on March 9 and reopen on March 21.

Post Office area manager Caroline Pritchard said: "We are making it easier for customers to get their cash, send and collect their mail and do their banking, because we know how important these services are to local residents."

Hedgehog plea

SOUTH Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson has urged residents to donate tins of cat food to a hedgehog sanctuary. He said West Midlands Hedgehog Rescue staff do a 'fantastic job' after he visited the sitre in Cheslyn Hay. To donate, call 07837 409533.

'Slippery slope' claim over volunteers plan

THE decision to make 23 libraries across Staffordshire community-run has been branded a 'slippery slope towards privatising libraries' by the county's Green Party.

Under proposals by Staffordshire County Council, 20 out of 43 libraries in Staffordshire will remain council-run, but the Green Party have voiced their disappointment over the future of 23 libraries that will be managed by volunteers.

The party fear it could spell the end of local libraries. Party activist Paul Woodhead said: "Libraries are an essential part of the infrastructure of the local area and a focal point for community engagement.

"They are known and loved by the people of Cannock Chase. I have written to councillor Mike Lawrence, the cabinet member in charge of libraries, to request that safeguards be introduced into the procurement process to ensure our libraries are not effectively privatised."

The decision to turn 23 libraries into community-run services comes after three public consultations and a U-turn over Penkridge Library, which will now remain council-run. The re-shaping of the service is part of plans to save £1.3 million in the next three years.

Mr Woodhead said: "Whilst I, and a vast majority of the residents of the county, want this vital public service to remain as a publicly provided service, the current administration in Stafford seem determined to push ahead with these cost cutting measures. The representations and recommendations I have made would effectively safeguard businesses running our local libraries and encourage organisations which are genuinely community-based run for the benefit of the community to tender successfully.

"Whilst this is not an ideal solution it should stop the drift on a slippery slope towards privatising our libraries. We need to deliver strong public services for the residents of Cannock Chase without directing profits towards private business."

Thirteen libraries to have their opening hours cut

THIRTEEN libraries in Staffordshire will have their opening hours cut in a bid to save £30,000 a year, under new plans.

It comes after county council bosses ruled that 23 of 43 libraries will be run by volunteers. Libraries that face cuts include Burntwood, Cannock, Perton, Rugeley, Stafford and Wombourne. The council will now consult staff over redundancies.

By David Banner

It comes after council bosses rubber-stamped a move for more than half of Staffordshire's 43 libraries to be run by community groups and become local libraries.

Staffordshire County Council will continue to run 20 core libraries, although most of them will see a reduction in opening times of up to three and half hours a week. Library visits have declined by nearly 12 per cent in the last three years.

Purpose

Overall, the changes to services across Staffordshire are expected to save the county council £1.3 million over the next three years.

The proposals, which came after three rounds of public and staff consultation over the last 12 months, were approved by the council's cabinet last week.

Councillor Mike Lawrence, cabinet member with responsibility for libraries, said: "The purpose of this consultation in the face of reducing demand was to create a service relevant and sustainable to communities for the next 10, 15 or 20 years.

"After refining our ideas through hundreds of hours of consultations with thousands of people, I believe we have a flexible, imaginative solution which fits the bill.

"This plan will mean that all of our libraries will remain part of Staffordshire County Council's network."

Some community groups will take responsibility for managing and delivering their local library service as soon as they have satisfied the necessary conditions – they will have access to support from county council library staff.

Others will go to a transitional stage where volunteers staff the library on a day-to-day basis and the library will be part of a cluster again.

Councillor Lawrence said: "We are working with communities to let them take charge of their libraries at their pace."

Pamper session for charity

WOMEN are invited to enjoy a relaxing evening of pamper treatments and shopping to raise money for charity. The event is being held on March 12 at The Aquarius in Hednesford in aid of the Stroke Association. Those who go along can enjoy a fashion show, health and beauty treatments, jewellery stalls and massage taster sessions. Tickets for the event cost £7 which includes a pamper goody bag. Staff on call for Red Nose donations

A CALL centre in Cannock will join in with the Red Nose Day fun when they handle phone donations for this year's Comic Relief.

Up to 120 volunteers from SBS Insurance Services in Beecroft Road will be manning the phones on March 13 to take calls from people across the UK.

It is the second time the company has taken part in such an event, after answering 1,800 phone calls to raise £42,000 for Sport Relief in 2014.

Technical director Paul Fairbrass said: "We are really excited at the prospect of opening our offices for the use of telephone donations.

"The company will open as normal on the day, but most of team will continue through the evening, taking telephone donations from 7pm until midnight."

The business also has fundraising plans of its own including a bake sale, sponsored dog walk and a trek up Mount Snowdon. Last year, for Sport Relief, SBS Insurance raised around £1,200 in their own donations .

Tracey Wright, quality assessor, said: "It will be a very long and chaotic evening, I'm sure, but great fun too and all for a very good cause."

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

I HAD no idea they were inviting bids from volunteers eager to go to Mars and never return to Earth. Why can't we nominate other people? I've got a little list . . .

FUNNY how your opinions can change in an instant. I had always been vaguely opposed to the European Arrest Warrant. How can it be right that English folk can be arrested on English doorsteps and hauled off to be tried in foreign courts? And then you see the footage of Chelsea fans ("We're racists and that's the way we like it") abusing people in the Paris Metro and you think, oh, bring it on. Chuck 'em in the police van and next stop, Calais.

FORTY years of health and safety legislation and it comes to this. In New Zealand, two cops spot a woman whose car has rolled into a harbour. She cannot escape and is minutes away from drowning. The officers jump into the water, grab a slab of concrete, smash the rear window and drag her to safety. Are we not all appalled at such recklessness? Did either of these officers conduct a full risk assessment? I doubt it. Have they attended an approved course on jumping into water? Were they aware of the microbial risks of entering a harbour without protective clothing? Have they undergone hypothermia training? Were they qualified in all aspects of handling large pieces of masonry? It is intolerable that members of the emergency services think they should provide some sort of service in an emergency. Back to the classroom, everyone.

I ASSUMED Boris Johnson was trying his hand at comedy last week when he penned a stirring column warning that a Labour government would strip Britain's armed forces and leave us defenceless. How can you not respond with a hollow laugh, looking at the wasteland of defence left by this Tory government? Twenty thousand fine British soldiers have been sacked and the Reserves (formerly the TA) are collapsing before our eyes. I remember years ago an old true-blue, Tory-voting artillery major who served through the Second World War and the Cold War telling me sadly: "We always do better under Labour than the Tories." The theory is that when Conservatives get their hands on the armed forces, the bean-counting instinct takes over but when Labour forms a government, the old working-class patriotism kicks in.

ED Miliband says the Black Country has nothing to fear from joining a combined council with Birmingham. His spin-doctors have obviously not informed him that the proudest boast of any Blackcountryman is "Ar bay frum bloody Brum." (I am not a resident of Birmingham).

SO Labour is going to get a grip on tax dodging. The snag is that, while there will always be a small percentage of millionaire families (the Milibands of Primrose Hill, for example) who use clever, and entirely legal, strategies to keep their tax liabilities to a minimum the biggest form of tax dodging is the sort used a million times a day by small businesses. "Knock a few quid off for cash?" asks the customer, and the plumber/window cleaner/electrician gladly agrees. Now, the tradesman may be using cash payments to dodge VAT and income tax. Or he may simply prefer cash because it saves him the bother of taking yet another cheque to the bank. So over to you, Messrs Miliband and Balls. How do you sort the bona-fide from the fiddlers? The Balls answer is for customers to demand a receipt for work done. So that's higher prices for the customers, more paperwork for traders, battalions of tax inspectors to monitor every bank account and crawl over every scribbled receipt, and, presumably, some penalty on customers who don't keep their receipts. Is that what the two Eds want? If so, do let us know so we can all get the house rewired or painted before May 7, General Election day.

Motorcycling president dies aged 85

He was also chairman of the Cannock Chase branch of the Royal Air Force Association and acted as a standard bearer at civic ceremonies.

Mr Mycock, of Brownhills, joined Walsall Motor Cycle Club in the 1950s, competing in scrambles and trials. He won the AMCA Scrambles Championship – 350cc class – five times and also the 500 title, always riding BSA Gold Stars.

He was a member of the club team who won the Inter Club Scrambles Team Championship nine times. Behind the scenes, he took on numerous jobs within the club.

In addition he found time to write a 75-page history of the Walsall club and had been planning another book, on Stonnall, where he grew up.

Don Green, chairman of the AMCA, said: "Gordon was dedicated to motor cycling. He will be missed by many." Mr Mycock, who died after a long illness, was also an active supporter of the Ex-Servicemens Club at Cannock.

He leaves a wife, Rita, and son David.

His funeral will take place at St Peter's Church in Stonnall today at 11am followed by a wake at Cannock Ex Service Men's Club in Walsall Road.

Speed limit to be cut along problem road

THE speed limit on a residential road in Chase Terrace that has been plagued by problems for more than a decade is to be reduced.

The limit along Princess Street will be cut from 30mph to 20mph. As part of a raft of safety measures being introduced, parking restrictions will also be put in place along some sections of the road, mainly at junctions with other routes.

County and district councillor Sue Woodward said there had been long-running problems along Princess Street over the years with speeding drivers and people parking inappropriately outside homes.

Those were the main reasons why she joined forces with fellow Chase Terrace councillor Eric Drinkwater to push through the changes, she said.

Discuss

Councillor Woodward said: "There have been long-standing traffic management concerns and problems along Princess Street.

"It has been plagued with inappropriate parking outside of homes and also speeding drivers.

"We want to make Princess Street a 20mph road."

Councillor Woodward and Councillor Drinkwater have held two public meetings to discuss the move with residents. Letters have now been sent out to homes in the area telling them about the planned changes.

A period of formal consultation has been launched and will take place over the next few weeks, although residents have mainly been in favour of the reduction.

Councillor Woodward added: "There are no simple solutions to this.

"We think these measures will bring some respite for the residents though.

"There have been problems along this stretch of road for over 10 years. In the last two or three years me and Eric have worked together on this scheme.

"We've tried to work out some sort of plan for the whole of that area.

"I'm chuffed we are coming to the formal consultation stage. I'd urge residents to respond to the consultation." Princess Street over the years has had various traffic calming measures introduced including speed bumps, and Lorne Street and Eastgate Street, which both lead off the road, have also been changed into a one-way system.

Work starts on TK Maxx

TK Maxx is one of four stores being built on Cannock Gateway Retail Park

THE new TK Maxx superstore in Cannock is taking shape, with construction well under way at the site, which is set to open in the summer.

Builders cleared the land in October and have now begun working on the steel structure for the designer brands clothing outlet.

The shop is one of four being built on Cannock Gateway Retail Park based at the Churchbridge interchange.

Burger King, a drive-through Costa Coffee and Sofa Works will also open as part of the multi-million pound development, which is expected to be ready by June.

The new Burger King will be the first in the Cannock area.

The 5.8-acre retail park will create 120 full and part-time jobs.

The site is being developed by Hortons' Estate Developments Ltd, and Richard Norgrove, property director, said it was an 'exciting development' and a 'prominent site'.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "It's great that national brands are coming to Cannock.

"It shows confidence in the district and it will bring more jobs to the area."

The progress at the site comes as the opening of a new Marks & Spencer near the Churchbridge interchange has been delayed.

The busy set of roundabouts have seen significant development and improvements over the last seven months with a £2.9m roadworks improvement project due to finish this weekend.

The scheme to improve the A5 Churchbridge island in Bridgtown began in July.

Dog walk to raise funds

A SPONSORED dog walk is being held to raise funds for disabled and terminally ill children in Staffordshire. Cannock-based national children's disability charity Newlife Foundation is organising Walkies In The Woods over Cannock Chase on March 22. Starting at Cannock Chase Visitor Centre in Marquis Drive, Hednesford, at 10am, there are three and six-kilometre routes to choose from. All sponsorship money will be used to provide vital disability equipment for children in Staffordshire. Call 0800 988 4640, email fundraise@newlifecharity.co.uk or visit www.newlifecharity.co.uk/dogwalk to register for the walk.

Council is the first to charge developers

DEVELOPERS will be charged for carrying out building work on new homes and shops in Cannock Chase under new plans.

District council bosses say the money raised will go towards new community facilities and revamping roads.

The charges will replace the current system of individually negotiated planning obligations, which chiefs say will speed up the process.

They say it will be a fairer system because the amount paid will depend on how big the development is, rather than major projects bearing the burden.

The only types of development liable for the charge are residential, excluding affordable housing and some forms of major retail development. The proposed rates are £40 per square metre for residential and £60 per square metre for retail.

It came after a government inspector examined the council's system and plans for the future.

Economy chief Councillor Gordon Alcott said: "I am pleased to say that we are the first authority in Staffordshire to get our charging schedule approved and the first in the Greater Birmingham and Solihull Local Enterprise Partnership."

Morrisons is contactless

NEW contactless payment technology has been installed at Morrisons in Burntwood.

Each cashier and self-service payment point within the supermarket is being upgraded to feature a new contactless payment reader.

Customer payments of up to £20 can be made by tapping a bank card against the reader pad.

It is estimated that the new payment method will save each customer 10 seconds every time they pay for their shopping.

On average four shopping trips are made each week.

Go-ahead for 21 new homes on clinic site

A FORMER health clinic in Rugeley will be knocked down to make way for 21 new council homes.

Hillsprings Clinic on Green Lane will be demolished and seven two-bedroom homes and 14 one-bedroom flats will be built on the site as part of a £2 million development.

The plans to build the homes were unanimously approved by Cannock Chase Council's planning committee at a meeting last week.

Councillor Frank Allen said: "This development will provide much-needed accommodation in the area, especially one-bedroom flats. I fully support the application."

Councillor Michael Grocott said: "The old clinic has suffered a lot of damage over the years since it closed."

The new homes will be built by Cannock-based property developer Jessup and the plans include 28 car parking spaces. Cannock Chase Council borrowed £1m from the Government for the project and is also adding £1m to the scheme.

Work is expected to start this spring and the homes should be completed in 12 months, ready for residents from the council's housing register to move in.

Seasonal rise in claimants

THE numbers claiming Jobseeker's Allowance in Staffordshire rose in January as people signed on after completing Christmas jobs.

The West Midlands saw another fall in unemployment in the October-December period, with numbers down 32,000 to 169,000.

There were 101 more claimants in Cannock Chase last month, with the total of 873 giving a rate of 1.4 per cent of the working population. Lichfield was up 42 to 444 – 0.7 per cent.

The Staffordshire total was up 630 to 5,706 – 1.1 per cent.

Ramblers' route

CHASE & District Group Ramblers will be going on an 8.5-mile moderate walk at Wyaston & Osmaston, in Derbyshire, on Sunday. Meet at Hednesford railway station car park, in Anglesey Street, for a prompt 9am departure. Call walk leader Eve on 01543 685425.

Father killed himself while sons were in house

Alan Coles

A FATHER shot himself in the head while his wife and two young children were in the house, an inquest heard.

Alan Coles killed himself at the family home in Armitage on September 12after drinking heavily and arguing with his wife. The 42-year-old pulled the trigger moments after his partner said she was leaving their home in Milmoor Avenue and taking their two sons with her.

But following the fatal shooting, his wife, Debbie Coles, and his sister, Patricia Coles, were arrested on suspicion of murder after telling paramedics: "We have killed him." They were later released without charge after they told police their comment was because they felt guilty over the rows which led to him taking his own life.

An inquest in Cannock concluded Mr Coles committed suicide while depressed. The hearing was told how on the day of his death Mr Coles had gone to a shop with £18 and bought cider.

His sister had arrived at the quiet cul-de-sac home at 3.30pm to stay for the weekend and when his wife returned from the school run she was angry he was drinking and the couple began arguing. The rowing continued and escalated throughout the evening.

In a statement by Dc Andrew Martin, the inquest heard how shortly before 9.30pm, Mrs Coles decided to leave. She told her husband she was going and put shoes and coats on their two sons.

Mr Coles is said to have told his wife 'You'll be sorry' before running upstairs. Mrs Coles told police she then heard a loud bang. His sister told Mrs Coles to 'get the kids out the house' before she went upstairs.

When interviewed by police his sister said she only took two steps into the bedroom before seeing Mr Coles lying face down on the floor and a light brown gun case on the bed.

After lengthy interviews, Staffordshire Police were satisfied that there was no third party involvement in the death. A police investigation did not find out how Mr Coles had acquired the weapon, which was last recorded in Los Angeles in 1989.

Passenger, 66, sues Arriva after fall when bus jolted

David Lloyd

A PASSENGER says he is suing a bus company after claiming to have been thrown to the floor when a driver braked suddenly.

David Lloyd says he suffered a punctured lung and several broken ribs in the incident on an 825 Arriva bus travelling between Stafford and Rugeley.

The bus company denies liability. Mr Lloyd, a retired technical adviser, had taken the bus after his car had broken down.

It was approaching Rugeley at about 5pm on August 20 when it came to a sudden stop. He said: "I felt myself thrown with great force onto the metal floor.

"I'd just taken my mobile phone out of my pocket when the driver hit the brakes very hard and, sitting in the front seat, I had nothing to hold on to, to stop myself from falling."

Collapsed

Mr Lloyd, aged 66, of Dawes Close, Armitage, said he turned down the driver's offer of calling an ambulance because he had wanted to get home as soon as possible.

When he went to Stafford Hospital's A&E department a few days later, he was told his lung, as well as being punctured, was partially collapsed. He said he was operated on immediately and spent the next seven days in the critical care unit.

His consultant, Dr Dominic Macleod, has written a letter in support of his claim,.

Arriva spokesman Keith Myatt said: "Arriva Midlands would not wish to make any further statement regarding this matter which is still ongoing between our insurance company and Mr Lloyd."

Advice on recalls over house fire

THE fire and rescue service is urging people to register electrical appliances on a new website after a faulty dishwasher caused a kitchen blaze in Cannock.

Crews from Cannock and Chase Terrace tackled the fire at a house in Cuckoo Close on Wednesday last week.

An investigation found that the Hotpoint dishwasher – model FDL 570 G – had been recalled by the manufacturer.

Carmel Warren, prevention manager for the west of the county, said: "We would urge people to visit www.registermyappliance.org.uk/ to register any electrical items purchased within the past 12 years if they have not already done so.

"This will allow the manufacturer to contact you should a fault occur.

"If you receive a letter and your appliance matches the product recall, unplug it and don't use it again until it has been checked or the manufacturer has advised you that it is safe to do so.

"In the majority of cases, a free, simple, repair can be carried out in the home."

First time lucky as school gets £10k

Hazel Slade Primary pupils Portia Mills, Jac Ferguson, Ben Walter and Stacie Bill celebrate the windfall

STAFF and pupils are celebrating landing a lottery windfall – and the prospect of becoming fitter and healthier as a result.

Hazel Slade Community Primary School in Cannock Wood applied for its debut Big Lottery funding, and came up first time lucky.

The £10,000 bonus will be used to set up an out-of-school fitness club and a healthy food club.

Years 5 and 6 teacher Sue Shepherd said their bid was prompted by a chance conversation at a course she was attending. She said: "We hadn't thought of applying to the Big Lottery Fund for money before that, so the idea came about through luck really." The school's out-of-school club will organise various sports and fitness activities for pupils, parents and carers, and will include a new outdoor gym. Volunteers and students from the local high school will be trained to become sports leaders to head up a number of fitness-related clubs.

It is planned to reclaim a small part of unused land for an allotment to be at the heart of a new healthy food club, aimed at teaching children and parents the benefits of a good diet.

In the future it is hoped to set up fruit and vegetable shop at the school, selling produce from the allotment. Pupils and parents will be encouraged to walk to and from school, with some of the cash earmarked for the possible purchase of fluorescent jackets for them to wear.

The school also wants to establish links with the local community sports club to promote a culture of sport and exercise. as part of the everyday lifestyles of pupils and their families.

Some of the cash may also be used to take the children to matches, club trials and festivals.

Mrs Shepherd said: "We're delighted we've been successful. It will be great not only for the pupils but also for the wider community."

Hold interest rates in 2015 say chiefs

INTEREST rates should be frozen for the rest of 2015, business chiefs said.

Latest figures show inflation in January was 0.3 per cent, a historically low level and down from 0.5 per cent in December.

Cannock Chase Chamber of Commerce director Chris Plant said: "With inflation set to remain low these figures further strengthen the case for the Monetary Policy Committee to keep interest rates on hold until at least 2016."

Accident victim is named by police

A PEDESTRIAN who was died after being struck by a van in Staffordshire has been named.

Joshua Owen was confirmed dead at the scene following the incident which happened in Lichfield Road, Whittington.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

ALWAYS beware of anything which has the prefix 'smart'. Yes, I know many people love their 'smart' phones, but to a disinterested observer they appear to have done more to isolate young people from everyday social interaction than bring them together.

Then it was 'smart' gas meters, which simply mean that nobody needs to bother coming round to read them any more. Not to mention the 'smart' television, which appears to be not so much a source of entertainment as an Orwellian spying device, secretly recording its users relaxing in their own homes, transmitting details about the colour of their pyjamas and preferred bedtime beverages to the marketing men who then bombard them with junk mail.

And now we have 'smart' motorways. Please, spare us. On the way down to a very pleasant weekend away in Henley-on-Thames, I had the misfortune to travel down the West Midlands stretch of the M6, which having been transformed into a 'smart motorway' now resembles something more akin to a 10-mile long Checkpoint Charlie.

I've never seen so many cameras in all my life. A speed limit which variously fluctuated from 70, to 50, to 60mph, maybe even 40 on occasion, I lost track, coupled with a network of spy cameras which Kim Jong Un might consider 'a bit oppressive'.

Conditions

There was no apparent reason for the varying speed limits; the weather conditions were good and the traffic was light, but hey, if you've got these gadgets, you've got to use them, haven't you?

In the end, I became so paranoid about missing one of the never-ending gantry signs, I slowed down to 40 just in case. Better to cause a traffic jam than give the authoritarian blighters an excuse to fine you.

These new cameras are called Hadecs3 – didn't you just know they would have a stupid name which mixes up letters and numerals? – and, unlike the old cameras which relied on film, they can nick an infinite number of people. Which, given the confusing variation in speed limits, I don't doubt they will do just that.

Some motoring organisations have branded them stealth cameras, and called for them to be painted yellow. However, given the ludicrous number of them, they're pretty easy to spot, and painting them yellow is missing the point. In the past, speed cameras were justified on the grounds that they were located at accident blackspots.

However, a motorway where you drive slowly because the speed limit is confusing and the proliferation of cameras strikes a cold-war style fear into motorists does not strike me as very smart at all. Also, if you can only drive at 40mph, it's not really a motorway at all. It is a road.

And they're off – action at the racecourse

First rate track? You can bet on it

Dunstall Park is used to breaking records and is a great advert for the city as JOHN SCOTT explains

IT is the busiest racecourse in Britain and just a few furlongs from Wolverhampton city centre.

The Dunstall Park track – now part of the Reuben Brothers seven billion pound business empire – has made a habit of coming first.

It was the country's first completely all-weather course, the first to have floodlights, the first with a restaurant from which punters could watch the action, the first to have live entertainment after racing and the first, and only, course in Europe to boast the revolutionary 'Tapeta' track surface installed at a cost of £2m in August.

Dining

Its main restaurant, the Horizons, was recently named the best Fine Dining Experience at the National Racecourse Catering Awards. Royal Ascot came second.

The track where 200 people work is a great advert for the city. Every race is screened live in 10,500 UK bookmakers and 53 different countries. And there are plenty of races for this world wide audience to enjoy.

The course will stage at least 93 meetings this year with six or seven races on each of those cards. It has around 72,000 paying customers a year while notching up around 9,000 visits from horses and up to 20,000 by owners, trainers and stable hands.

It is part of Britain's largest racecourse group, Arena Racing Company (ARC) which owns and operates 15 turf and all-weather racecourses in the UK, and accounts for around 40 per cent of UK racing fixtures. ARC also owns and operates two hotels and three golf courses as well as being a major shareholder in broadcaster At The Races (ATR) - which explains Wolverhampton's global TV showing.

Choosing his next winner, punter Norman Homer from Cannock

David Roberts the 56-year-old managing director for the past 15 years following a successful career running Pontins holiday centres, said: "People who have no idea where Wolverhampton is, and may have never heard of the place before. know all about Wolverhampton Racecourse because of our worldwide TV exposure.

"When I came here there were only 63 meetings a year. Now it is usually somewhere between 90 and 100. We hold the British record of 125. The number is important because the more racing we sell to all those television outlets, the bigger our income. It is a major revenue source.

"Our customers are worldwide. We see some of three times a week, others every now and again and while we never see the rest at all because they watch the racing from places far away.

"But we are much more than a racecourse. We also own the hotel next door and are an integral part of the community of Wolverhampton. It is a multi faceted operation and people come down here for pretty much everything."

More than 400 marriages of all faiths have been held there along with a fair number of wakes. It has become an especially popular location for Asian weddings and West Indian wakes.

Mr Roberts conceded: "This is a surprising location for a racecourse but we have made it into a success by being here for the long haul. We never wanted to come in, strip out the profit and run. We are not interested in thinking short-term. We treat our customers like lifelong friends. We are constantly growing year on year and will continue to do so."

The track plays a key role in the global betting market, ensuring that there are races for punters to gamble on when there is little or no racing anywhere else in the UK, such as Monday afternoons in January and Thursday and Friday nights.

Freeze

It comes into its own during the winter freeze and on dark, cold, dank Autumn nights. Mr Roberts explained: "We hold an important position in the global betting market and cover the gaps that others cannot fill. The integrity and attraction of British racing is recognised worldwide which is why so many countries take the live TV feed."

"The horses keep running and the bets keep being placed regardless of weather or season." As the opportunities to gamble on sport grow greater horse race betting in this country diminishes but it still remains one of the primary reasons people walk into a bookies and crowds at UK tracks are getting bigger.

And there is no doubt that the punters love it.Retired butcher Norman Homer, 71, from Cannock has missed only a handful of the near 400 meetings held at Wolverhampton Racecourse over the past four years.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

I THINK we can safely say the Tories have definitely not given up on the West Midlands.

The key marginal seat of Cannock Chase was one that got briefly flagged up on the Conservative website as 'non-target'. But you certainly don't deploy your most powerful weapon at somewhere that isn't a target.

Labour might have weaponised the NHS, but the Tories have weaponised Boris Johnson. The blond bombshell exploded in the Premier Suite in a sea of selfies, speeches and pancake tossing.

Hot on the heels of visits from the Chancellor, it's obvious that the party wants to hold the constituency where it was gifted its biggest swing from Labour in 2010.

Of course Labour were no slouches when it came to visiting marginal seats.

Wolverhampton North East, where shadow housing minister Emma Reynolds is MP, has a smaller Labour majority than the Tory one in Cannock.

But it should, in theory, be easier to hold on to. After all, if the Tories could not take it from Labour in 2010 when they were the fresh faces of opposition, the task is doubly difficult after five years in power.

So having not one but four shadow cabinet ministers decamp to Wolverhampton and the Jaguar Land Rover engine plant would have done a lot for Miss Reynolds. She spoke during the party's launch of its economic plan on the factory floor of how the time JLR announced it was coming to the city was her proudest day as an MP.

That was a bit rich for South Staffordshire Conservative MP Gavin Williamson. After all, the factory is actually in his constituency.

That's not the only territorial issue either. The Conservatives want everyone to know it was under the Coalition that JLR came to the i54 and transformed what was predominantly an empty field into one of the biggest pieces of private sector investment in Wolverhampton/South Staffordshire for a generation. In particular, he says the site never even had electricity and gas in all the years under Labour that it lay vacant.

Miss Reynolds, however, reminds everyone it was the work of Advantage West Midlands, the old regional development agency, that turned a polluted patch of land by the motorway into prime development space.

AWM was scrapped by the Coalition. And while Labour isn't happy about that, it won't be bringing it back if it wins the election.

There is however, another group that deserves a lot more credit than any politicians. And that's Jaguar Land Rover itself for having survived the recession and come out of it stronger than ever and willing to actually invest here at all.

Singing postie Nathan aims to deliver

On his way to two regional singing competition is postman Nathan Farrell, who has been singing since he was 17

SINGING postman Nathan Farrell has triumphed over thousands of hopefuls to make it through to the regional finals of two national competitions.

The 29-year-old, whose round covers Cheslyn Hay, Great Wyrley and his hometown of Bloxwich, was one of 15 singers chosen after auditioning for the Future Music songwriting competition at the NEC.

The father-of-two impressed the judging panel by singing two of his own songs – The Closer You Come, and Keep Your Dreams Alive.

He will now go to Bristol on April 11 when he will be competing against more than 20 singers in the hope of getting through to the finals in London. The winner of the competition will be given £10,000. Nathan, who has been singing competitively since the age of 17, was also successful after auditioning for Mecca Bingo's Star Search competition.

Around 50,000 hopefuls around the UK sent in a video audition and the videos were posted online with people asked to vote for their favourites.

Chance

Nathan, who has been a postman for more than a decade, will be one of 25 competitors taking part in the regional heats at Mecca Bingo in Oldbury on April 29.

If he gets through the next round, he will compete in the finals in Blackpool in July and would be in with a chance of winning a trip to Hollywood and £5,000. He said: "I'm over the moon. I enter competitions all over the UK.

"I was very excited to do my own songs for the Future Music competition and it's exciting that I'm going to be performing in Bristol.

"They are looking for creative new styles. When I appeared in front of the judges I sang a ballad and an uplifting pop song.

"I think at regional finals I will be singing an extended version of The Closer You Come and I'm planning to organise a couple of minibuses so my friends and family can come down.

"I sang Elton John and Limp Bizkit songs to get through for the other competition and I will probably be doing a song of my own and two covers for the next round."

Athletics club was settled

IN reply to Christine Mitchell's response (February 12) to my original letter, looking back I remember the athletics club being 'settled' at Cannock Stadium.

If only the council had put so much emphasis on their well being as you do, maybe the athletics club would still be 'settled' at Cannock.

Still, at least we have phase one of the new plan to look forward to. I cannot wait to see what's in store for phase two, but if we do not get the things promised, at least now we have a name to be made accountable.

Signs ready to be put in place

RE the letter from K Wainwright (February 19), for the past nine months, Hazel Slade and Rawnsley Community Association have been dealing with getting signs for Hazel Slade.

Three signs have been made and we are waiting for them to be put in place.

This is an attempt to brainwash the public

WHY is the BBC carrying out a campaign against UKIP?

It is running programmes simply to smear and discredit the party.

It does not show any negative programmes against the Conservatives, the Labour Party, the Greens, or other minor parties, simply UKIP.

We all pay a licence fee to keep the BBC executives in the lap of luxury and they are supposed to be the bastion of fair play and freedom of speech.

They are simply attempting to brainwash the public and because of their mass audience they will succeed. How can we ever have a country of freedom and democracy when we are subjected to brainwashing in this way?

You do not have to be a supporter of UKIP to want to protest at this blatant attempt to besmirch this legal political party. You may not like their views, you may not like their representatives, but they have a right to a level playing field when it comes to the election.

"Let ye who cast the first stone".

The BBC has skeletons in the cupboard, as do the Tories, Labour and most of the other political parties. In fact the majority of MPs should hold their heads in shame at the way they have abused their position of trust.

If the BBC is going to highlight a party, it should highlight them all, or alternatively let them get on with their campaign without trying to influence the people.

Can anyone help in hunt for relatives?

I AM trying to trace any descendants of Thomas Dutton and Emma Dutton who were living at Gentleshaw, Goosemoor Green, Longdon, in 1878.

My father Herbert Dutton was their youngest child born in that year. I was born to him when he was 65 years old. I also know that there were six older children namely Ann Marie, William, Sarah, Joseph, James, and Frederick.

I have been living in South Australia since 1968, and feel that I must have a number of relatives still living in Staffordshire that I have no knowledge of.

I would be so happy to find any as I have never met any family members on my father's side.

Any help that anyone could give me would be much appreciated. I can be contacted at 20 Solero Avenue, Reynella East, South Australia 5161 or by emailing eldon@picknowl.com.au

Invite to celebrations

I WOULD like to invite all members of the Staffordshire Regimental Association, their friends, families, any former Stafford and our new Mercian Regimental family to the St George's Day celebrations taking place in Tamworth on April 25. Every year we hold a free St George's Day event which features a host of activities for all the family including The Grand Medieval Joust.

Tip closure call gets my support

I WRITE with reference to Labour's Janos Toth stating he will advocate the closing of the Poplars waste tip.

Good on him for being bold enough to say this publicly.

I fully back his call because the Poplars Waste Tip has caused problems like odours, flies and dust for residents over many years.

Furthermore, waste lorries coming up and down the roads cause a traffic danger. It is a stinking eyesore and haven't we had enough years of this?

If the 'waste tip mountain' can be turned into a ski slope or bobsleigh track this will be excellent facility for all of us and it is quite exciting.

I would welcome other recreational and sports activities as well.

I think the legacy of the Poplars Waste Tip could turn out as a benefit and again well done Janos Toth for leading the call.

My dog was saved by pair's kindness

A BIG thank you to the people who helped when my little dog was run over recently on the Penkridge road.

Two very kind ladies in a red car, despite being on their way to Penkridge, turned around and took me as fast as possible through the Cannock traffic to the vet in Chadsmoor.

My two-year-old Jack Russell is very gentle and good tempered and is very much loved by my husband , children and myself. She seemed to be on the edge of death having been hit by a large van. Miraculously she recovered very quickly and now is back to full health.

Thank you to the two lovely ladies for their quick action and fabulous help. Thank you also to Central Vets in Chadsmoor for the excellent care and compassion.

Council has given no guarantee over centre

STAFFORDSHIRE County Council is a disgrace. There is no money to repair the roads, it is shutting day services for the elderly, and now it is our children that must suffer. As a new mom I have found the services at Landywood children's centre invaluable.

It offers a range of activities that are accessible to everyone, and although it will not be closed like the other centres in the area, it will be taken over and run by new management. There is no guarantee what services it will provide and what price they will be. Will there be any services left by the time the council have finished?

Club marks sapphire anniversary

Norton Canes Flower

THE February meeting was opened by Jose who began by welcoming everyone to the first meeting of 2015.

She reminded members that this year would be a special one as the club has been in existence for 45 years – and so was celebrating its sapphire Anniversary.

The club will mark the milestone later in the year.

This was a practical evening led by Christine Flood.

Members learned leaf manipulation, plaiting and weaving for the first part of the meeting and then went on to complete arrangements incorporating their achievements with the leaves.

It was a most rewarding time as everyone learned something and could see the result of our efforts in their arrangements.

The next meeting is an Open Evening when everyone is welcome. It is being held at Norton Canes High School, Burntwood Road on on Wednesday March 18 at 7.30 pm.

The demonstrator is Sharon Badger who is presenting "Spring Celebration". Tickets cost £6 and are available by telephone on 01543 279133, or by payment on the door.

The club meets on the third Wednesday of the month at Trinity Methodist Chapel, Poplar Street, Norton Canes at 7.30pm.

New members and visitors are always most welcome.

SI Cannock & District

SI Cannock & District's glittering diamond anniversary celebration at Rodbaston Hall was attended by 120 members, past members and friends including Soroptimists from other clubs in the Midland Chase Region.

The theme of diamonds ran throughout the decorations and embellishments and guests made sure they wore something that glittered.

President Dr Janis Lomas and club members were delighted to welcome everyone and were particularly pleased that so many Past Presidents were able to join them.

Past President Betty Howard-Evans, 1999-2000, thanked president Janis and club members for organising such a wonderful event with an excellent meal and the usual wonderful friendship and for the commemorative gift of an inscribed pen.

Soroptimist and Past President Carole Holdcroft gave the vote of thanks.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Facebook pervert had sex with 15-year-old

AN online groomer who had sex with a 15-year-old girl and tried to entice a 13-year-old to his flat has been jailed for 30 months.

David Bull, of Cannock, got in contact with both girls on Facebook and 'wormed his way into their favours', Stafford Crown Court heard.

Mr Robert Price, prosecuting, said Bull, then 19, sent the younger girl text messages asking her to have sex with him.

By Paul Davenport

Bull made repeated requests for the girl to visit him at his flat and although she continued with the messages, she had no intention of going there.

When the messaging was discovered on her phone, a youth officer from the area where she lives set up a phoney Facebook account under the pseudonym Holly, pretending to be a 14-year-old girl, and was put in touch with Bull.

She engaged him in conversation and when she said she was only 14, Bull's response was that age wasn't a problem and gave her his address.

Contacted

Police arrested him in May 2013 and under questioning, Bull confessed to having sex with a 15-year-old girl.

Bull, now 22, of Canford Place, admitted arranging to meet a 13-year-old by sexual grooming, two charges of sexual activity with a 15-year-old and one charge of causing a child to engage in sexual activity.

Judge Mark Eades told him: "I find this case concerning because it involves not just one girl, but two, both pretty much at the same time. [The 13 year old] was vulnerable to sexual grooming from someone like you. The matter doesn't end there because you also had a sexual relationship with a 15-year-old. There is a clear degree of persistence and a proclivity towards under-age girls and worming your way into their favours through grooming on the internet." Bull was also ordered to register as a sex offender indefinitely.

Mr Price said it was the younger girl who contacted Bull first on Facebook but he instigated the sexual conversations. After his confession about the 15-year-old, police were able to trace the victim. She said she had sex with Bull on two separate occasions after meeting him on Facebook.

When her parents suspected something was going on, she was grounded but continued contact with Bull. Their relationship ended about a month later.

Mr Neil Gerrity, defending, said: "He is not the sort of predator you might expect in a case like this. [He is] one who associates more comfortably with younger people.

"The internet provides an easy way for him to talk to people, particularly girls."

Without his voluntary confession, the authorities would never have known about the 15-year-old, Mr Gerrity added.

Law firm issues alert on obese workers' claims

A SOLICITORS firm in Cannock is offering advice to businesses on the rights of staff who are obese and how to prevent disability discrimination claims.

A recent European Court of Justice ruling said severe obesity can fall within the definition of disability in equality law. This gives employees certain rights if treated unfairly as a result of their obesity.

Adam Pike, an employment lawyer in the dispute resolution team at Ansons Solicitors, said: "Businesses have a duty to make reasonable adjustments to premises or working practices where a disabled job applicant or employee is placed at a substantial disadvantage.

"Failing to comply with this duty is a form of disability discrimination.

"There is no limit to the amount of compensation that can be awarded for a successful disability discrimination claim."

Severe obesity can be classed as a disability if the employee has a physical or mental impairment as a result of their obesity which means they have reduced mobility or medical conditions and it is substantial and likely to be long-term.

Anyone requiring further advice can call Mr Pike on 01543 431197.

Madness! 'Chicken' youth hit by lorry cheats death

The boy was playing chicken on the A449 – but miraculously he walked away with just a bruise.

The foolish youth ran in front of the lorry behind a pal, but hesitated briefly and was hit full-on.

But amazingly the lad jumps up and limps to the side of the road, escaping with just a bruised ankle. Police took no action after watching the clip.

The footage was captured by a video camera made by journey recorder manufacturer SmartWitness and released to warn youngsters of the dangers of playing on the roads.

The youth hesitates before he is hit

The lad escapes with just a badly bruised ankle

Speed

Mark Berry, international sales director at SmartWitness, said: "Obviously it was a huge relief to everyone that this lad was not more badly hurt.

"His escape is frankly remarkable, given the size of the vehicle and the speed it was travelling at at the time of the collision. He only had a badly bruised ankle.

"The driver was clearly badly shaken by the incident and immediately presented the footage to police," Mr Barry added.

"Once they had viewed the footage, it was clear that the driver was blameless and this was a game of chicken that had gone disastrously wrong.

"I don't think anyone viewing the footage would ever contemplate playing chicken again."

The truck was travelling well within the 60mph speed limit when the incident happened in October. The images show three youths loitering on the grass verge as the lorry approaches before two of them dart out into the road as the vehicle gets closer.

One makes it across the road but the second hesitates and is hit by the truck, which stops at the scene where the 'shaken' driver immediately alerted police.

Mr Berry added: "In this case, the driver was able to go straight to the police and show clearly what happened.

"The footage showed the boy had badly mistimed running out into the road while playing chicken and was hit by the truck when it was braking heavily while travelling well within the speed limit."

JCB plays part in trek

STAFFORDSHIRE digger group JCB provided a Fastrac 3230 Xtra tractor when livestock and arable farmers drove in relays from Somerset to Shropshire to highlight and raise funds for Forage Aid, an initiative to provide practical help to farming communities affected by extreme weather and other disruptive events. Drivers on the 220-mile route stopped off to collect donations on the way to the Energy Now Expo at Telford. One of the farmers worst-affected by the Somerset floods, James Winslade, took on the initial driving stint from Sedgemoor Auction Centre.

MP enters row over Bar Sport rates bill

AN MP has attacked the leader of Cannock Chase Council amid a storm over the non-payment of more than £40,000 worth of business rates.

A compulsory winding-up order has been issued against The Premier Suite Cannock Ltd. Cannock Chase Council says the company owns Bar Sport and is the ratepayer, which is refuted by bosses at the venue.

They say the bar, in High Green, Cannock, is owned by Bar Sport Property Ltd.

Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley has criticised council leader George Adamson for pursuing the boss of the venue, asking if it is because Bar Sport Property boss Scott Murray is a 'Tory businessman'.

He claimed it had been a 'politically motivated vindictive witchhunt against a prominent businessman'.

Bar Sport in Cannock

Action

But Councillor Adamson has refuted these remarks, saying: "There's nothing political about it. That is what is due to the people of Cannock. This £40,000 could be used to support services in Cannock."

Mr Burley has also accused the authority of taking the action while alleging the council 'writes off literally hundreds of thousands of pounds in unpaid council tax by council tenants every year'.

The Conservative politician said: "Why do they not even bother pursing them for the far higher amounts of unpaid tax? Is it because they are Labour supporters and Scott Murray is a Tory businessman?"

But in response, Councillor Adamson said: "It would be the same for any other person or business that doesn't pay rates. We collect about 98 per cent of our council tax."

Cannock Chase Council said the compulsory winding-up order means The Premier Suite Cannock Ltd must now cease trading and the Insolvency Service will ensure this happens, securing any assets that the company has.

The council said it had no record of Bar Sport Property Ltd owning the venue.

The council's head of finance, Bob Kean, said it would be the decision of the Insolvency Service whether Bar Sport closes.

The Insolvency Service has confirmed The Premier Suite Cannock Ltd was now in liquidation but could not say if it owned Bar Sport. A list of the company's assets is being compiled.

Ban on lanterns highlights fears over livestock

COUNCIL bosses have issued a fresh warning that sky lanterns are banned in Staffordshire.

The lanterns are banned on all council land and property in light of the risk they pose to livestock.

A special clause has been inserted into all new leases and licences preventing the use of the lanterns. This applies to all county council property, including county farms and country parks.

The move has received backing from the National Farmers Union, who wants to see an outright ban on the sale of sky lanterns.

And Staffordshire County Council's Animal Health Team has reiterated warnings that wire parts from lantern debris can be eaten by farm animals and other wildlife, causing death or serious injury.

NFU deputy president Minette Batters said: "We are pleased that Staffordshire County Council has taken the decision to ban the release of sky lanterns on its land.

"We realise that lanterns can be quite spectacular but our farmer and grower members know only too well how they can harm and even kill farm animals.

"They can also cause fires to crops, grassland on moors and bales of hay and straw."

Club sails into full year of diamond activities

THE Chase Sailing Club will this autumn celebrate 60 years of sailing on Chasewater reservoir.

Several events are planned in the lead-up to the historic celebration on Saturday, September 26.

The Midlands Area GP14 Championship will be hosted at the club on the weekend of March 28-29 and as with the picture here from 60 years ago, the club anticipates a great turnout, with local people joining in the excitement of a high Beaufort scale testing sailors to their limit or maybe their ingenuity and patience with light breezes.

The first open meeting for GP14s was won by Leslie Brain in a borrowed boat,and Chase soon established a reputation for strong winds.

An enthusiastic crowd watch the launch of the first competition boats, 1955

Opportunities

"One wonders whether the original founders – Harold Gilmore (Commodore), John Wigmore (Vice Commodore), Reg Clarke (Secretary) and Syd Pybus – envisaged the current standing of the club," PR officer Barry Bird said. Another event, the RYA (Royal Yachting Association) Push The Boat Out will be supported by the club in this diamond anniversary year.

This involves giving opportunities for people to experience sailing and windsurfing at 'have a go' taster sessions at the sailing club.

The main launch of these activities will be the open day on May Day bank holiday Monday, May 4. Further activities will be on offer during the RYA National nine-day timetable from May 9 to 17. The other picture here, from 1956, epitomises this concept of involvement for all, Mr Bird added.

The Chase Sailing Club has had several years out of action due to dam repairs but is getting back on its feet. It now enjoys 90 hectares of clean water set in Chasewater Country Park. The clubhouse consists of secure changing rooms with showers, a large wet room and galley where food and drinks can be purchased at weekends.

There were plenty of willing helpers for this boat launch at the club in 1956

The Lichfield Room is a function room with a fully licensed bar, for relaxing after sailing or windsurfing.

The Commodore, Steve Turner, said: "We would like to see every boat in the compound out on the water and an increase in participation by members new and old during the diamond celebrations."

Meanwhile, the club would like to identify as many people in the two pictures as possible. Any similar pictures, stories or anecdotes from the past 60 years would also appreciated. Call 01922 495974, text 07913 069099 or email bretagne240187@hotmail.com

Street name poses an historical riddle

What's in a name? Gillian Collier has lived in Cromwell Road, Heath Hayes, for four years

OLIVER Cromwell may have a notorious role in the Black Country's history, but his links to Staffordshire are less clear – just ask the residents of a street in Heath Hayes that shares his name. Legend has it that he fired cannons at Dudley Castle from the surrounding streets, which gave the town's Cromwell Drive its name.

Over in Staffordshire, a tale was passed down the generations that two sisters were buried alive by Cromwell in the 1690s, next to St Augustine's Church on the edge of Cannock Chase. But Cromwell had died earlier, in 1658.

The true story is connected to a Parliamentary Act of 17 years earlier requiring corpses to be buried in wool. These women preferred to be buried in linen, and defied the Acts.

Even so, the tale could explain the origins of Cromwell Road, Heath Hayes, although residents could not shed any light on it. Funeral arranger Sandra King said: "I know who Oliver Cromwell is – he was a political leader – but I never really associated him with the road name." Peter Sharpe, a retired 69-year-old, said: "I didn't know this road was named after him but I've heard of Oliver Cromwell."

Gillian Collier, 67, who has lived there four years, said: "I did think of Oliver Cromwell, but what came to mind more was Fred West because he lived on Cromwell Street. I was hoping I didn't find bodies in the garden."

473 reports of child sex abuse in the past year

THERE have been nearly 500 reports of child sex abuse made to Staffordshire Police in the past 12 months as force bosses claim the 'culture of silence' is over.

The majority of the 473 investigations are still ongoing but charges have been brought in 30 per cent of the cases. Supt Tim Martin, from Staffordshire Police, said almost half of the cases are historic.

By Carl Jackson

"Our utmost priority is treating each victim as an individual, providing them with support and keeping them updated on the progress of the investigation," he added.

"We cannot measure protecting children and the vulnerable by the number of arrests and prosecutions – the issue is much more complex."

Since February last year 65 investigations have been launched in Staffordshire specifically into reports of online child sexual exploitation including grooming and sharing indecent images.

Arrests have been made in every one of the cases.

Assistant Chief Constable Jon Drake said: "The immediate thought is that the internet is almost a lawless space, but the message is clear. If you groom children or share indecent images you commit an offence and you are on borrowed time, so pack it in.

"Sixty five people were arrested and there will be many more."

In the last two years reports for rape and serious sex offences regarding victims of all ages have increased in Staffordshire.

There is an average of about 40 new rape cases a month compared with fewer than 30 in January 2012 and about 70 reports of serious sex offences now compared with less than 40 two years ago. Police chiefs have said high-profile arrests and convictions have 'empowered' victims and removed the 'culture of silence'.

NHS link-up agreed for £105m cash pot

BUDGETS are being pooled to develop a joint approach on health and social care in Staffordshire, creating a £105 million pot of cash.

The new deal will see the NHS and the county council pool resources in the 2015-16 financial year. The council's cabinet agreed last week to join forces with five Clinical Commissioning Groups across Staffordshire to provide more integrated care.

The agreement comes as a new report published by the King's Fund also called for crucial changes in how health services are commissioned, paid for and regulated to help see through a five-year vision for the NHS.

In its report last week, the think tank made a number of recommendations including an integrated approach to commissioning with a 'greater emphasis on pooling budgets currently held by NHS England, clinical commissioning groups and local authorities'.

Alan White, cabinet member for health, care and wellbeing, said: "In Staffordshire, we have been quick to recognise the importance of providing integrated health and social care to deliver better value and better benefits for residents.

"We have already made fundamental changes to our approach and the Better Care Fund is another example of how closer partnership work is key to supporting a sustainable NHS."

The cabinet endorsed proposals to enter an agreement with the CCGs for Stafford & Surrounds, Cannock Chase, North Staffordshire, East Staffordshire, and South East Staffordshire & Seisdon Peninsula.

Ribbon cut at new £12m development

A NEW £12 million development allowing older people to maintain their independence and offering services to the wider community has been officially opened in Cannock.

The Longford development on the old Langbourn site in Longford Road combines Chasewood extra care housing, Woodland View respite care for people with learning disabilities and the Longford Centre community facilities.

The centre also boasts a restaurant, pharmacy, sensory gardens and the Alderwood Medical Practice.

Chasewood extra care has 63 modern one and two-bedroom apartments as well as communal facilities. The apartments have been designed mainly for people aged 55-plus, as well as younger people who want to live independently but may need some extra support. The extra care scheme will be run by ShireLiving, a partnership between Wrekin Housing Trust and Choices.

Added to this, Woodland View offers short term breaks for people with learning disabilities and their carers, run by Lifeways.

The facility consists of 9 en-suite bedrooms and one self-contained flat to help people with learning disabilities on their way to independence.

Transport Secretary and ex-Cannock county and district councillor Patrick McLoughlin officially opened the development along with Staffordshire County Council leader Philip Atkins. Jean Jarvis, CEO of the Furniture Scheme, part of Wrekin Housing Trust, also helped with the launch ceremony.

Mr McLoughlin said: "Maintaining your independence as you get older is extremely important."

Parents are advised on free places

PARENTS in Staffordshire are being reminded about the opportunity to access free, high-quality childcare for their two-year olds.

The reminder comes on the back of a review published last week by the Family and Childcare Trust (FCT) which says the average cost of a part-time nursery place for a child under two has risen 33 per cent since 2010.

Parents can check if they are eligible at www.staffordshire.gov.uk/think2 or call 0300 111 8007. The annual review from the FCT is at www.familyandchildcaretrust.org/

star extra TRAVEL
ICELAND – Reykjavík and the Northern Lights
Enjoy a break with a difference and fly to the 'Land of Fire and Ice' to discover and explore one of Europe's most surprising cities, together with its warm and welcoming atmosphere and glaciated landscapes of smouldering volcanoes, plunging waterfalls and spouting geysers.
The fascinating city of Reyjavik with its brightly painted wooden buildings stand out in sharp contrast to the stunning beauty of its setting of water, ice and lava fields. With a host of restaurants, bars, cafes and shops selling goods that are no longer eye-wateringly expensive, justifies its claim to be amongst Europe's most 'happening' cities.
Get acquainted with the surroundings on a guided tour. Amongst the highlights will be the extraordinary 'Pearl', a collection of disused water tanks now crowned with a glass dome and a viewing platform offering stunning views of the city and harbour.
See the Presidential Residence in its idyllic shoreside setting at Bessastaoir, and the brightly coloured fishing town of Hafnarfjord, as well as the Lutheran Cathedral, the Houses of Parliament and the towering Hallgrim's Church.
Join the optional Golden Circle tour to explore Thingvellir, a great lava arena deep in the Continental Rift valley. Take in the active geothermal area site where the 'original' Geysir is now all but extinct, but where its neighbour Strokkur spouts impressively. The day ends with a visit to the stunning Gullfoss waterfall and the Friotheimar greenhouse cultivation centre where produce is grown with the aid of geothermal heat.
For many, the highlight of the trip will be a journey out of the city in search of sighting the fabled Aurora Borealis, the Northern Lights, if lucky enough to view them, they are a neverto- be-forgotten sight.
The five-day break alternative ends with an optional excursion to the world-famous 'Blue Lagoon' outdoor spa, whose mineralladen waters are recognised for their health-giving properties.

Jams misery as water main replaced

Traffic builds up on the A449 as South Staffordshire Water replaces a 4km pipe that supplies homes

TRAFFIC jams, temporary traffic lights and brake lights as far as the eye can see – these are the new roadworks making drivers' lives a misery in Penkridge.

The holds-ups on the A449 into the village are caused by South Staffordshire Water's project to replace the 4km pipe that supplies homes.

The work is set to continue until the end of next month. Councillor Leonard Bates, who represents Penkridge North East & Acton Trussell, said people had been caught up in long delays.

"It's certainly been causing some problems on the road with the traffic lights holding vehicles up," he said.

"But you have got to balance the problems with the benefits Penkridge will receive afterwards. The local people are accepting the roadworks as a temporary hindrance as they understand it will eventually benefit them in the long term once complete."

South Staffs Water said more than 5,000 people in the area will benefit.

Mike Morris, network performance manager, said: "This work is being carried out to replace the water main and enhance the water services we provide for the people of Penkridge.

"To ensure the safety of motorists and our employees, it will be necessary to operate traffic lights along the A449 at certain times. In agreement with Staffordshire County Council's highways department, these will be manually operated so we can best assist the flow of traffic."

"We are working to complete this work as quickly as possible, and would like to apologise for any disruption."

Anyone with any queries can call South Staffs Water on 08003 8 9 10 11.

Plea on workers' safety

THE Health and Safety Executive is marking its 40th anniversary with an appeal for Staffordshire businesses to make the wellbeing of workers their top priority. It comes as new figures show that two people lost their lives while at work in Staffordshire in 2013-14 and 1,567 were injured, compared with three deaths and 1,645 injuries in the county the previous year. Nationally, across Britain, there were 133 deaths at work in 2013-14 and more than 79,500 injuries. Information on tackling health and safety dangers in workplaces is available at www.hse.gov.uk

Allotments given £3k to help stop vandalism

ALLOTMENT growers in South Staffordshire have been given a pot of cash by a police chief to help combat anti-social behaviour.

Cheslyn Hay Community Allotment Association has been awarded £3,000 to engage with schools and young children on a First World War project. The money will be used to help develop youngsters' respect for community property at the allotments.

Colin Bedford, secretary of Cheslyn Hay Community Allotments Association, said the project will see a group of mixed ages producing a video showing the development of a vegetable plot similar to one that would have been tended by villagers during the First World War.

Matthew Ellis – grants

Mr Bedford said: "The extra benefit for those youngsters involved is that they will see how they become an integral part of the village's celebration of the contribution that so many villagers made to the Great War.

Total

"Hopefully they will also look to see how they can contribute to the well-being of the village in the future."

The money has come from the Police and Crime Commissioner's People Power Fund.

Commissioner Matthew Ellis is providing a total of £500,000 during 2015-16 through the fund in the form of grants of between £100 and £3,000.

The aim of the community kitty is to support locally driven safety activities in neighbourhoods across Staffordshire.

"I am very pleased that the allotments are trying to encourage young children to learn and be part of their community and help reduce anti-social behaviour," Mr Ellis said.

The next round of applications for People Power Funding opens on March 1 and runs until April 14. Applications need to be sponsored by the group's local Neighbourhood Police Officer or Police Community Support Officer. More details, including application forms and a video about the fund, are available at www.staffordshire-pcc.gov.uk/fund

Meanwhile, the Commissioner's Proceeds of Crime Fund is seeing 100 per cent of funding received by Staffordshire Police going back into communities through grants of between £3,000 and £15,000. It comprises money seized from criminals as the force strips offenders of their assets.

Cathedral service marks school's 73rd anniversary

PRESENT students, former students, teachers, parents and friends celebrated the 73rd anniversary of the founding of Lichfield Cathedral School at a service.

"It is extremely important to know where we have come from," said headmaster David Corran.

"Foundation Day is a time to remember how the school was formed in 1942, at the height of the Second World War, and reflect on how far we have come as a school community."

Former pupil Howard Davis OBE gave one of the readings at the service held at the cathedral. Mr Davis joined the school in September 1942 as a chorister and now looks back on many achievements, including his memories of the British Olympic hockey team at three successive Games – Melbourne, Rome, where he was vice-captain, and Tokyo, where he captained the squad.

Former pupils, former parents and former staff are all encouraged to get back in contact with the school to share memories, photographs and stories of their time at the school, in anticipation of the 75th anniversary celebrations during 2017. For details, visit www.lichfieldcathedralschool.com or call 01543 306014.

Library sessions launch

HEATH HAYES Library will be launching its reading café on Monday at 2.30pm when visitors can talk about favourite titles. The free event will usually take place on the first Monday of every month but due to bank holidays, the next sessions will be on April 13, May 11 and June 1.

Wednesday sees the launch of The Cookie Club at Hednesford Library. The new reading group is aimed at fans of Jenny Colgan, Sophie Kinsella, Chris Manby and many more. It will run on the first Wednesday of every month. Wednesday's session will be held from 11am to midday.

Ops mean everything says shot policeman

"HAVING these operations has made a massive difference," says police officer Sergeant Jon King as he recovers from being shot twice in the face while on duty in Rugeley.

Sgt King has had a temporary acrylic cover fitted to the eye he had removed after being blinded in the shooting last October. He is now hoping to be fitted for a prosthetic eye in the next few months.

The 48-year-old, who has 26 years service with the force, was shot twice in the face at close range after he and his colleagues were called to help paramedics at a property in Wat Tyler Close on October 19.

A 34-year-old man was later detained at the scene under the Mental Health Act and taken to a psychiatric unit for treatment.

Sgt King, who lives in Cannock, visited Good Hope Hospital for the recent fitting and has also had an operation on his tear duct, which stopped working properly after the ordeal.

Jon King – video diary

Attached

He has documented his journey to recovery in a video diary posted on YouTube.

Last month, the father-of-four had his right eye taken out and a plastic insert put in, which attached to muscles in the back of his eye socket.

He said: "I've just had a temporary cover put on.

"It's like a thick contact lens with an eye painted on it made out of acrylic.

"In about six to eight weeks they will make a mould of my eye socket. That gets sent to Blackpool and a couple of weeks later I have to come back for a fitting." He said the surgery on his tear duct had involved putting a tiny tube in his eye socket which will be removed in a month's time to leave a hole.

"Hopefully that will make it work as a tear duct again," he said.

He said the operations had made a 'massive difference', adding: "The people at work have been great. They are telling me to take my time and recover."

After the shooting, he was rushed to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham and then transferred to Birmingham Midland Eye Centre the following day.

He had surgery on his eye and spent around a week on bed rest.

Sgt King was the second serving police officer in his family to be shot – his brother Geoff King was hit while working in Wolverhampton in 2006.

Children's seven hours a day in front of screen

NINETY SIX per cent of children in Cannock spend up to seven hours per day in front of laptop, tablet and TV screens at home, a survey found.

Only 11 per cent of children in the West Midlands get out and about to play once a day – compared with 30 per cent of previous generations.

And 57 per cent of adults in the region also spend three to five hours of their own spare time every day staring at the same devices.

The worst 'offenders' are adults in cities such as Bristol where 72 per cent spend up to five hours in front of a screen during leisure time.

The Family Lifestyle and Holiday Habits Survey revealed that while two in five adults had made lifestyle changes to get active and improve their health in the last 12 months, less than a third (30 per cent) of children under 16 have enjoyed traditional outdoor activities like riding a bike or a kickabout in the park.

The survey devised by the Caravan, Camping & Motorhome Show found children in Cannock are missing out on traditional outdoor activities – 70 per cent have not flown a kite, 67 per cent have not made a den and two thirds have not climbed a tree in the last 12 months.

Selfies and anecdotes – a typical day for Boris

By Daniel Wainwright

A MESSY blond mane and a bit of a lumbering gait – nothing about Boris Johnson suggests 'global statesman'.

Yet he's probably the only front line politician who would not seem remotely self-conscious flipping pancakes in the Premier Suite in Cannock, gleefully referring to himself as a 'tosser', while urging Conservative supporters to help get candidate Amanda Milling elected in May.

The Mayor of London is seeking a return to the Commons himself, and plans to do two jobs until his current term ends.

He is no stranger to the West Midlands. Nor has he lived his life in the Westminster bubble, as many politicians today have. Perhaps this is his secret. In 1988, as a graduate trainee on The Times newspaper, he was sent to Wolverhampton to work for the Express & Star, sister paper to the Chronicle, and learn his trade.

Boris Johnson on his visit to Cannock

Sweet

"It was 27 years ago or whatever it was," he says. "I went around doing, you know, toddler locked in loo and cat stuck up tree stories. I used to do lots of UFO stories.

"They were so sweet. They always said 'No, Boris, no more UFOs'. "Easter bonnet parades. I was really good at Easter bonnet parades."

It was here in theWest Midlands, he says, that he first realised he was a Conservative.

Mr Johnson lived at the time in the Parkfields district of Wolverhampton, lodging with a lady named Brenda whose surname he cannot recall.

"I did keep keep in touch with her," he says, "but I went abroad and then lost touch. She was so wonderful. She used to make the most extraordinary meals in the evening. I was a trainee and so the paper, The Times, were paying for me to be there.

"They covered her expenses. She was such a sweet soul. She basically decided that they'd given her far too much money for this.

"All she had to produce was an evening meal. And so she used to produce the most colossal evening meal you have ever seen. And there would be lasagne and incredible dishes of cheese, butter and so on.

"I remember describing her meals as like a cardiac arrest."

Boris starts to tell a story about a social worker he befriended but then gets distracted by a party press officer explains time for his visit to the Premier Suite is running short.

There are various supporters queuing up for selfies with the larger than life Mayor of London. He has to go around all the tables, where supporters have been eating lunch, and pose for them like a rock star on the red carpet. A charity campaigner from Liverpool, raising money for Alder Hey Children's Charity, wraps Boris in a scarf. He is only too happy to oblige. A young party aide swoops in to remove the tag from it.

Throughout our interview he has fidgeted, shuffled and rubbed his wild hair. But all the time he has kept eye contact. His speech is peppered with a few 'errs' and 'sort ofs' but he is clear about the sort of Tory that he is. Specifically, he is a One Nation Tory.

That concept has been adopted recently by Ed Miliband and Labour.

But it actually belongs in the Victorian era with Benjamin Disraeli and the Conservatives. Specifically, it is the idea that members of society owe a duty to one another. There is an expectation on the upper classes to help the lower classes.

Story

Today, Boris equates it with businesses now needing to do their bit.

"I think the story of the West Midlands over the last few years and what's happening in Cannock is about private enterprise," he adds.

"But it's private enterprise that's there not just to fill the wallets of the fat cat, but delivering for the whole country and everyone in society."

It is not that far removed from David Cameron calling for employers to give Britain a pay rise.

Boris belongs to a different class of politician. And although he may not be enamoured by the comparison, he shares many attributes with UKIP leader Nigel Farage – namely a career outside of politics first and very obvious and human weaknesses.

Mr Farage drinks and smokes. He is a bit posh himself but with his yellow corduroy trousers and his pint in hand he presents an image of a normal person, even if he is anything but.

It works the same way for Boris. They do not come much posher.

Canine Capers

At Canine Capers we offer a professional and caring dog grooming service for all breeds of dog; from a simple bath and brush, clip and finish to a complete head to paw treatment. All dogs are groomed to your requirements.

We understand how difficult it can be leaving your pet in the hands of a stranger, which is why we will spend as much time with your pet as it needs, in order to make them feel comfortable and at ease. As dog owners and lovers ourselves, we know the importance placed on your special friend, so we aim to earn your trust with our service standards. We do not cage or kennel a dog unless requested by the owner. Your pet is our priority and his well being is paramount to us.

Appointments are generally around one and a half hours; however this may vary with each dog. Like humans they react differently and may need more time to adjust. Like us, they all have varying degrees of tolerance levels and we understand and respect this. Your pet may be a seasoned regular to grooming or a new recruit, we welcome all.

We welcome puppies as soon as vaccinations are complete. It is important that they get used to the surroundings. New scents and sounds can be intimidating; therefore we would expect them to have a few small sessions, to boost their confidence and get them ready for regular grooming sessions.

Crackin Cafe

We are a new cafe recently opened in Norton Canes within the Norton Canes Business Park and are open 6 days a week. You can either enjoy our freshly cooked food within our new and bright beautifully decorated cafe, or you can order to take away. We offer a large selection on the menu from a full English breakfast to a healthy salad and cater for every tastebud. We offer breakfasts, hot sandwiches, cold sandwiches, burgers, pies, hot meals, jacket potatoes, omelettes, salads, cakes & pastries, drinks and a range of extra's including chips and tea and toast. We offer a delivery service within the local area on all orders over £10. We also pride ourselves on offering quality buffets available from just £3.50 per head and these can be tailored to your individual tastes.

Come and try our lovely new cafe.. IT'S CRACKIN!

Carfriend

Car Friend is a family run business and we come from a racing background and have been building and racing cars for nearly 20 years.

Owners Gemma and Matt decided to open the workshop doors to the public by venturing into mainstream garage work and repairs shortly after the arrival of their daughter, Heidi who is now 2 and has already spent more time in the pit lane than most! They moved to Norton Canes for a bigger workspace and have been bowled over by the village surroundings and genuine people they have met already. The company has gone from strength to strength and are proud to be making this business venture a success.

Gemma, Garage Proprietor at Car Friend comments "Customers always comment on the fact that I'm a woman in this type of work, although I'm not afraid to get my hands dirty. I can turn my hand and have a sound knowledge on the mechanical side of the business, I tend to do the clean stuff". Car Friend never set out to be a 'woman friendly' garage but that's how it seems to have gone. Female drivers love to bring their cars to us they have the opportunity to sit in our warm comfortable waiting area have a FREE proper cup of tea or coffee and we are always available for a good old chin wag while their car gets the first class treatment in our workshop. Customers say that they love the way were are so honest, reliable and trustworthy and how we explain everything in a way that's really easy to understand - no garage jargon with us & we always go that extra mile to ensure great customer service.

Customers also love our name - It comes from our surname so this makes the company personal to us and we pride ourselves on offering customers a first class service!"

Take aim for activities

SHOOTING tuition will be on offer during a countryside activity day in Essington. The British Association for Shooting and Conservation – BASC – will hold a family day at Mill Ride Shooting Ground, in Bognop Road, on March 21, between 9.30am and 4.30pm. There will be opportunities for one-to-one expert tuition in clay shooting, air rifles and gundog training and game cooking. Gwyn Bevan from BASC said: "This is a hands-on day where all individuals actively participate in each of the disciplines." For further details, call 01283 810910 or visit basc.org.uk

Man spared immediate jail term for drug factory

A BUSINESSMAN who claimed he was coerced by gangsters into letting his premises in Cannock be used for a cannabis factory has been given a suspended jail sentence.

Landscaper Dwaine Williams, a friend of murdered Burntwood company boss Richard Deakin, told a judge he was too scared to go to the police.

By Marion Brennan

The cannabis production set-up was discovered after a fire alert at his premises on the Birch business park. Miss Cathlyn Orchard, prosecuting, said Williams was called to the site on April 6 last year to unlock the unit.

Inside were 75 cannabis plants, plus seedlings and 1.6kg of ready harvested cannabis. The total yield could be worth up to £33,800 on the streets.

Williams, aged 29, of Newport Road, Hinstock, Shropshire, who admitted permitting premises to be used for the production of cannabis, was sentenced to 10 months jail suspended for two years and ordered to do 150 hours unpaid community work.

Profits

Judge Mark Eades told him: "Cannabis is very popular in terms of production.

"There are large profits to be made because there is a big market out there.

"The temptation is to provide premises so a hydroponic system can be set up. You succumbed to the temptation as a result of being approached by others.

"It is not clear what the benefit to you was, I am sure you would have been paid significant reward.

"But you have no previous convictions – you have learned an important lesson, I rather doubt the court will see you again." In a trial of issue last month, Williams asserted he was Mr Deakin's 'best friend' and attended the trial of the men accused of his murder. Afterwards he was approached by members of a gang.

"They told me they were putting this in my building and that was it. I had no other option than to let them carry on. With these people there's no 'yes' or 'no', you just have to do what they say. If I said 'no', they could have done something to my mum or family," he said, maintaining he had no financial reward for it.

Asked if he had received any threats, he said: "Yes, I got told I would be dealt with – the exact words." His basis of plea was rejected by the judge, and Williams appeared back before him for sentence last week when his barrister, Mr Steven Masih, said: "His involvement in this enterprise [was] due to pressure and coercion."

In November 2013, Williams rented the £519-a-month unit in Cannock claiming it was on behalf of his company, Staffordshire Paving, to store tools and materials, said Miss Orchard. But Judge Eades branded it 'a typical drug producers' set-up and said that Williams's assertions about the Anslow gang looked like 'a tall story'.

Commitments to play hits from film at theatre

THE Commitments will bring their classic hits to Cannock next month.

They will perform at the Prince of Wales Theatre on March 7.

The nine-piece soul band from Dublin features cast members and musicians from the original film and will play all the hits from the multi-million selling soundtrack, including Mustang Sally, Chain of Fools and In The Midnight Hour. Tickets cost £20.

Later in the month, comic writer and raconteur Gervase Phinn will be appearing at the same venue.

H has been touring across the country for more than 10 years and will be sharing hilarious and poignant tales of life as a school inspector in the Yorkshire Dales.

Best known for his series of five Dales books for Penguin, he has also written a wide range of academic books, children's poetry and fiction, and has made numerous TV and radio appearances. Tickets for the show on March 17 cost £18.

On June 4, X Factor winner Joe McElderry will return to the Prince of Wales Theatre – a venue he visited a year ago.

He won the ITV talent show in 2009 but was later dropped by Simon Cowell's record label.

Children with English as second language at top

CHILDREN in schools across Staffordshire and the Black Country who speak English as a second language outperformed native speakers in last year's GCSEs, according to new figures.

Statistics released by the Department for Education (DfE) show that in the last academic year, 58.9 per cent of children in the Black Country who speak English as a first language got five or more GCSE passes at A* to C.

For non-native speakers of English, the figure was 5.7 per cent higher at 64.6 per cent.

The trend was matched in Staffordshire, where 66.2 per cent of youngsters who speak English as a second language hit the benchmark, bettering the 64.6 per cent of native speakers.

Additional

The gap was greatest in Wolverhampton, where 56.6 per cent of native English speakers met the GCSE benchmark, compared to 64.6 per cent of second-language speakers.

In Walsall, the gap was almost five per cent, with 58.4 per cent of English speakers achieving at least five GCSEs grades A* to C, while 63.1 per cent of those with English as an additional language achieved the grades.

Across England, 66.9 per cent of non-native speakers met the standard, while for first-language English speakers the figure was 65.6 per cent.

Last year, the Government allocated more than £240 million to schools across England and Wales to help pupils who have English as a second language, according to the DfE.

The figures back up new research by Oxford University boffins that reveal children with English as a second language usually catch up with their peers by the time they are 16.

Apprentice hopefuls gained an insight into their potential roles

UK Caterpillar dealer Finning welcomed young adults to its Cannock headquarters for interactive apprentice open day sessions.

The business showcased the Finning Training Academy facilities, coupled with its commitment to investing in talent from across the UK and Ireland.

The academy had 240 registered applicants for the two days. Four two-hour sessions gave apprentice hopefuls the opportunity to gain an insight into their potential roles.

The prospective students were given a tour of the workshop facilities by the training team and incumbent first-year apprentices. "We think it's really important that our potential apprentices get the opportunity to meet the current team of Finning trainees," Jackie O'Brien, head of learning and development, said.

This year saw a greater focus on the two separate apprenticeships offered by the Finning Training Academy. The first is the traditional Service Engineer apprentice role, and the second the Parts Sales and Operations scheme in partnership with Jaguar Land Rover.

Both Finning Training Academy schemes will start in September.

Devoted couple handed award

Diane and Frank with centre manager Natal Chapman

A MARRIED couple who have been together more than 50 years were presented with a special Valentine's Star Award by Cannock Shopping Centre.

The competition, which invited people to send in their romantic stories for the chance to win prizes, ran throughout January as part of the centre's Valentine's celebrations.

Diane and Frank Smith of West Bromwich were handed a trophy, Argos vouchers and a box of chocolates. Mrs Smith nominated her husband of 49 years for his continued romance throughout their marriage.

Centre manager Natal Chapman said: "This competition has been an excellent way to show that there are still some true romantics out there.

Superheroes at school

EARLY Years pupils at Etching Hill Primary School's nursery received a video message from Superman, asking for their help to heal the villain known as Mr Freeze – and the children worked hard to capture acts of kindness in order to melt his heart. To thank them for their hard work, Supergirl and Superman visited the school. Headteacher Mrs Marie Smith said: "Themes run on a weekly basis."

Charges top £110k for special fire call-outs

FIRE service bosses in Staffordshire and the West Midlands are on course to have charged more than £110,000 in a year for call-outs to non-emergency incidents.

They include stuck lifts and people being locked out of their homes. The fees were introduced as chiefs said there are other organisations that can deal with the situations.

By Adam Burling

Latest figures show £95,000 will have been charged in 2014-15 by West Midlands Fire Service by March, and £18,000 in Staffordshire.

People calling for non-emergencies in the West Midlands face a charge of £412.80 per hour for every appliance or specialist vehicle sent.

Removal

In Staffordshire the cost of these call-outs will increase in April from £292 for the first hour, to £296.40. Then the service will charge £74.10 per 15 minutes after that.

Other common incidents include animal rescues, clearance of debris and the removal of flood water. Call handlers now challenge all requests for non-emergency assistance, outlining the approximate cost of attendance and asking residents to confirm whether they still want firefighters to go out.

Opponents have said the public should not be charged extra for call-outs as the service is funded by a precept, including with council tax.

Staffordshire's head of emergency response Brian Griffiths said: "Emergency incidents will always take priority and we only accept special service calls if we have crews available.

"Examples of chargeable special service calls include people locked out of their properties and lift rescues on commercial premises.

"The money that we do receive is re-invested into the service and goes towards the funding of new operational equipment."

Joint birthday celebration

AMBUCAE in Romford Road and Broad Street, Stafford is pleased to announce it's 10th birthday. This also coincides with Shopmobility's 15th birthday – so there is a lot to celebrate.

As you may know, Ambucare had a very busy year in 2014 when it moved from Bellasis Street to its new superstore premises in Romford Road, opposite Stafford Rangers football ground.

It was also the first full year running the Shopmobility scheme in Broad Street, Stafford. Both outlets have had a very successful year and staff would like to thank all customers, both old and new, for making it such a success.

The new premises in Romford Road have undergone major refurbishment to become a 'one stop shop' for anyone with mobility difficulties.

The completely refitted showroom has lots of new displays, including a kitchen, several bathrooms and a bedroom, all specially adapted for people with limited mobility, and all laid out in room sets, so that you can see how they would look in your own home.

Also on display are a working stairlift and the most popular products from Ambucare's huge range of larger items such as mobility scooters, power chairs, riser/recliner chairs, wheelchairs and walkers, as well as smaller items such as kettle tippers and walking sticks, designed to make day-to-day living easier. Please note, if the budget is limited, we have a huge range of pre-owned mobility scooters which have been fully serviced, come with a warranty and most are available with three months free insurance

The premises in Romford Road has undergone major refurbishment

Ambucare has a huge range of mobility scooters, power chairs, riser/recliner chairs and wheelchairs

Ambucare prides itself on the quality of its products and customer service, and aims to offer the best possible value, sourcing items made in the UK wherever possible.

The vast majority of riser/recliner chairs have a five year warranty and all new scooters come with free insurance for the first three months.

The company may not always be the least expensive, but does offer the best value, with customer service being top priority.

Ambucare works with customers to establish their needs, to ensure that their purchase, large or small, meets their requirements completely. We believe we offer exceptional customer service, please read the following testimonials:

Mr W Stafford said: "I broke down on my scooter just the other day. I rang Ambucare and Ian was there within 20 minutes. Ian got the scooter going again and just to make sure I didn't break down again, he walked behind me all the way home. Ian really did go the extra mile"

Kath Walker, Uttoxeter said: "I visited Ambucare recently to look for a power chair within my budget. The staff there were very attentive, very patient and took a long time with me to understand my needs.

"I recommend them wholeheartedly (and they also make a nice cup of tea).

Romford Road also houses the company's expanded servicing facility. Ambucare's technical services department can service all makes and models of mobility scooters (including those purchased elsewhere), plus wheelchairs and power chairs.

The company also offers a rental service for scooters, wheelchairs and profiling beds, as some customers only need mobility products for a short while.

Ambucare has one aim – to provide products and services that assist individuals in overcoming physical restrictions, so that they can enjoy a life without limitation.

Can't get to Ambucare? Then Ambucare will come to you!

The company will happily arrange for demonstrations of larger items in the comfort of your own home, while smaller items can be purchased from Ambucare's new online shop, which can be found at www.ambucaremobility.co.uk

COMPETITION

All sewn up! Crafty chance to bag tickets

Enjoy watching the catwalk

SEWING for Pleasure, Fashion Embroidery & Stitch and Hobbycrafts returns to the NEC, Birmingham from March 19-22 .

This popular show is attended by more than 30,000 creative craft enthusiasts over the three show days. With more than 300 exhibitors, a host of experts and inspiring catwalk shows, this event is not to be missed.

And the organisers have teamed up with the Chronicle series to give 70 lucky readers the chance to win a pair of tickets.

The International Craft and Hobby Fair is thrilled to be able to offer three shows for the price of one at the NEC.

With many fascinating stands, talks, demonstrations and features, they are a haven for anyone with a passion for all things craft.

For those who truly enjoy sewing for pleasure, the aptly-named show should be the first port of call. It offers the latest supplies, ideas and innovations. Visitors can find kits, patterns, fabrics, threads and hands-on activities.

Knitters from across the UK saw their hard work and efforts unveiled in 2014, when the world record was set for the longest-knitted chain which measured a staggering one kilometre long.

The Sewing Club, now a regular feature at the show will see author and sewing expert Laura Strutt running mini workshops for beginners.

Fashion Embroidery & Stitch is the ultimate showcase for anyone with a love of stitch and the textile arts and the daily catwalk fashion shows will showcase a range of exciting creations.

Hobbycraft lovers can enjoy a variety of demonstrations and workshops including the lively on-stand demos.

HOW TO ENTER

Who is the author and sewing expert?

Send your entries to: Sewing competition, Chronicle series (Editorial), 51-53 Queen Street, Wolverhampton, WV1 1ES

Closing date: Thursday, March 5. Usual rules apply. Editor's decision is final

GERMANY HAS THE ANSWER TO YOUR HEATING PROBLEMS

In Germany, Austria, Poland, Russia, Eastern Europe and even America more and more people are choosing to heat their homes and offices with a very special form of electric heating in preference to gas, oil, LPG or any other form of conventional central heating or Economy 7.

Here in the UK, more and more of our customers are making the same decision!

When you see this incredible heating for yourself, you could be next!

All you need is standard electricity supply and NO special tariff like Economy 7. The heating looks just like a conventional radiator, but STOP! It is very, very different! Why?

Put simply, central heating isn't the only choice anymore! Now you can choose to heat your homes, offices, extensions, conservatories with this incredible German heating which provides individual control over every single room without the need for a central control or space to site a boiler. Now the boiler space can become a valuable storage area!

Installation takes minutes and running is completely clean, no danger of leakage, no holes through walls, no floorboards up and no tradesmen trundling around the house wielding pipe cutters, spanners, hammers, wrenches and work boots. This incredible German heating simply plugs in and that's it. Job Done! You can even do just one room or the whole house! Get your free info pack right away by calling 01889 576732.

This heating is NEW in the UK, yet in Germany, Austria, Poland, Russia and even America it has been a mainstream form of heating for a very long time.

Discover for yourself this incredible German heating, get your FREE info pack right away by calling Simple Heating Solutions on Rugeley 01889 576732, ask for Martin.

Shots of 'lost' canals wanted

THE Lost Wonders of the Waterways World is the theme of a new photographic competition launched to capture the hundreds of miles of derelict canals in England and Wales.

The competition, launched by the Canal & River Trust in partnership with The Inland Waterways Association, is asking for photographs of derelict or unrestored waterways which capture the emotion and feeling of our 'lost' waterways to help rediscover and bring these much-needed spaces back to life.

Thanks to the efforts of campaigners, more than 200 miles of canals have been restored since the turn of the millennium.

Last year Sir Tony Robinson joined the rallying call and described the waterway network as part of the 'fabric of our nation'.

The deadline for submissions is April 10 and the winning entry will win vouchers worth £500 and two-runners up will scoop £250. Winners will be announced in May.

Fore details go to www.canalrivertrust.org.uk/restoration

Recruitment freeze in bid to save £1m

A RECRUITMENT freeze has been launched by Staffordshire County Council in a bid to save £1 million. Only positions deemed 'essential' will be filled, in order to save cash.

Bosses say they will also look to see if existing staff can carry out the duties of workers who leave instead of taking on someone new. A panel will assess whether positions are classed as essential and need filling. The council believes it will need to make £229m of savings in certain areas over the next five years.

Councillor Ian Parry, deputy leader and finance chief, said: "Staffordshire is a well-run county council and we are determined to manage and invest taxpayers' money carefully and wisely to deliver results and value for money.

"Our vacancy control policy alongside regular reviews of staffing means that we have the right number of people with the right level of skills working across all our services. When a member of staff leaves we will always look at the vacancy first to see if the position needs to be replaced or whether the duties can be carried out by another member of staff.

Challenge

"Each request to fill a vacancy is considered on its own merits."

Although council bosses project the need to make £229m of savings, they expect to invest £289m in boosting other services, particularly those protecting the elderly, vulnerable and young – with an additional £20m allocated to the care budget for 2015-16. The budget will rise from £483 million a year to £516m a year over the next five years as the authority invests millions more in care.

In a report to cabinet, which met this week, Andrew Burns the director of finance and resources said: "There is to be a challenge across all council services around recruitment of staff."

Competition victory keeps gold in club

Naida Southall with Team Ryu coach Mike Carr

CANNOCK Karate club Ryu Shotokan were back in action last weekend at the UK Open Karate Championships in Birmingham. The competition featured competitors from all over the country.

Team Ryu student Naida Southall, aged 38, was in action and had decided to test herself in the intermediate category instead of her own category which is beginner level.

She won the group securing a gold medal and becoming the UK open kata champion, following on from her team mate Stephanie Bui who won the group last year. Ryu Shotokan's coach Mike Carr said: "Naida has been working very hard the last few months and this win comes off the back off an impressive bronze medal finish at the National Championships, Naida is really proving herself at a higher level and she has a very bright future."

Ryu Shotokan train in Cannock on Saturdays at the Avon Road Community Centre next to Asda from 12.30 to 1.30pm. For more information go to www.ryukarate.co.uk

Peter is speaker

PETER SHELLEY is the guest speaker at a meeting of Cheslyn Hay & District Local History Society tonight. His talk, 'A Handful of Straw', takes place from 7.30pm in theSalem, High Street. Admission is £1 including refreshments.

Firm in motorsport sponsorship deal

A CANNOCK-BASED business is venturing into the world of motorsport, after signing a deal to sponsor a team in the 2015 MCE Insurance British Superbike Championship (BSB). Materials handling specialist Briggs Equipment, based in Orbital Way, is supporting the Royal Air Force (RAF) Reserves team, which is returning for a second season in the premier class.

The team has switched to BMW power for its 2015 campaign and has also retained the services of rider Peter Hickman, who set the fastest ever lap of the TT course last season. Having finished 2014 just outside the top 10 standings, Peter and the team are targeting a place in the end of season Showdown as their goal for 2015.

Gary Clements, strategic development director of Briggs Equipment, said: "The team's new partnership with BMW will make for exciting racing and we wish everyone involved every success for the season."

Return of popular run

A SPRING run that regularly attracts more than 1,000 runners will take place this year on Sunday, March 15.

Organisers of the Fradley10k in Lichfield are calling on keen athletes and would-be runners to sign up for the event, now in its 15th consecutive year.

The Fradley 10k, described as ideal for beginners through to pros, will start at 10.30am in Fradley village, covering a range of flat country roads. Anyone interested can register at www.kpevents.net

The 34 members say their new music director has introduced a fresh approach and variations in their repertoire.

They also have a new rehearsal venue – St Aidan's Church Hall, where they meet on Wednesdays at 7.30pm.

Female and male singers aged 14 and over who would like to try choir singing are welcome to contact the choir by calling 01543 270690. The choir's first event will be on Sunday, March 29 when they will be appearing at Cannock's Prince of Wales Theatre for their In Springtime Serenade Concert.

The choir will appear with the Chase Harmony Choir, the Cannock Festival Choir and soloists from Follow That Dream.

All proceeds will go to children's charities.

The concert begins at 7.30pm. Tickets are £10 (concessions £8) and available from the theatre or choir members.

Centre feeds 490 people

THE Burntwood Foodbank Distribution Centre last year processed just under 300 foodbank vouchers, which fed 490 people.

There were 139 individual clients, some of whom received more than one voucher, but 60 per cent needed only the one visit, the centre's report for 2014 says.

More than 60 per cent of the clients used the foodbank because of delays or changes which can result in people being without income for several weeks, but unemployment and debt were also important causes of food poverty.

Managed by Burntwood Churches United, the centre is based at Emmanuel Church in Cannock Road.

The report was presented to the BCUcommittee at their February meeting by Dr Ian Hopkins, chairman of BCU and one of six regular volunteers working at the centre. He said the team represented five local churches, providing food, cosmetics and advice and as a result it was helping to meet a real need in the town.

Food is collected regularly by local churches and schools and from time to time local supermarkets.

The centre operates as part of the Cannock & District Foodbank and food collected is taken to the warehouse at Pye Green and then re-distributed to local centres.

Singer in stunning show at town hall

Alison Atkins-Green

A PERFORMER from Penkridge wowed an audience of around 100 music lovers at an historic venue.

Alison Atkins-Green, who performs under the name Operali, took to the stage at Darlaston Town Hall and sang numbers from pop classics to opera.

The mother of two belted out hits ranging from Time to Say Goodbye to Whitney Houston classics during her hour-long set.

"The crowd were absolutely fantastic, they were singing along," she said.

"I have only been doing opera a year, although I found I had the vocals years and years ago."

Mervin Jones, organist at Darlaston Town Hall who helped organise the concert, said: "She is brilliant. She is on the books definitely."

Matching salon names are a hair-raising coincidence

By Lee Watton

Charlotte Roberts, aged 21, was the first to start work at the VIP Hair Salon six years ago and was joined a couple of years later by Charlotte Thatcher, 20, of Cheslyn Hay.

But the real coincidence started a year later when Charlotte Horrocks, 19, of Stafford, began work at the salon. And around a year later they were joined by Charlotte Wagstaff, 19, of Huntington.

Charlotte Roberts, of Cheslyn Hay, who is known as Charl and is salon manager, said: "It was really strange and the coincidence has just continued.

"It can be a little confusing when people are booking an appointment and ask for Charlotte. We have to ask them which one. It has certainly excited comment among customers over the years because it is such an odd coincidence.

"To make things a little easier we all go by different variations of the name: Charlotte Wagstaff is called Charlie, Charlotte Thatcher goes as Charlotte and Charlotte Horrocks is Lottie.

"It is a real coincidence. In the past we have had a couple of people working here who share the first name but having four people with the same name is something else."

More gentle way to get in shape

PENKRIDGE Leisure Centre is promoting its toning suite as a less strenuous alternative to working out in the gym or doing lengths in the pool. Unlike conventional fitness equipment, toning does not rely exclusively on muscle power. Instead the suite's technology does all the work. The suite is open seven days a week. Call 01785 714152.

Progress on new college campus

A NEW campus for young people with disabilities and learning difficulties is taking shape in Penkridge.

The dedicated campus, belonging to South Staffordshire College, will provide specialist education, care and employment services to young people with disabilities or learning difficulties in Staffordshire.

Students who attend will have access to personalised study programmes in the setting of Rodbaston Campus. The new development will include facilities for students with complex needs, including classrooms, a skills kitchen, chill-out zone, ICT room and drama area.

Courses at the campus will cover a range of content including mobility, communications, speech and language therapy.

Students will get work experience and qualifications in academic and vocational subjects including animal and equine care, business administration, catering and hospitality and construction.

Chief executive principal Graham Morley, said: "The new campus will be an important and welcome addition to the South Staffordshire College family.'

For more information about the development and courses, call 0300 456 2424 or visit www.southstaffs.ac.uk

What we believe concerning the Bible.

As Christadelphians (brethren in Christ) we believe the Bible is the only true message from God and was entirely given by Him. Its 66 books, written over a period of 1500 years, all fit together perfectly and their message is harmonious across the Old and New Testaments.

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God." 2 Tim 3v16. Archaeology and prophecy have both shown the Bible to be accurate and reliable.

We each endeavour to read from the Bible daily to learn more about how God wants us to live and to strengthen our hope in the Kingdom He has promised to establish on earth.

Service is praised for treatment of girl, 8

A SPECIALIST service has been praised for helping with the treatment of an eight-year-old Cannock schoolgirl.

Scarlet Carr was diagnosed with autism and profound learning difficulties when she was two and had a limited diet. She stopped drinking, which saw her become dehydrated and taken to County Hospital where staff tried to get her to take fluids.

As a last resort, surgery was being considered through the insertion of a tube into her stomach but her father Ian contacted Midlands Psychology – a not-for-profit social enterprise which provides mental health and support services in Staffordshire.

This includes autism services for children aged up to 18 years old and specialist help for those with feeding disorders, which can often overlap.

Scarlet Carr

Improvement

Consultant psychologist Clarissa Martin, an internationally known expert, then worked to implement an intensive psychological programme with Scarlet, who attends Sherbrook Primary School in Cannock, to successfully resolve the issue.

Within two weeks she was drinking normally again and there was also an improvement in her use of language to communicate along with a willingness to try new foods.

Dr David Ankers, head of autism service in South Staffordshire, said: "Children with autism often have feeding and eating problems as part of their presentation.

"As far as I am aware, Midlands Psychology is the only service in the country to have this kind of expertise available as part of their autism provision to children.

"Clarissa heads up our specialist service for children with feeding disorders, so she is involved with children who have a huge range of difficulties, not just autism, and is in great demand up and down the country," Dr Ankers added.

Scarlet's father Ian, of Wildwood, Stafford, said: "This help and professionalism shown to us by Clarissa and the Midlands Psychology team was excellent.

"The tools we have learned will enable Scarlet to continue to progress."

He thanked staff at the children's ward at the County Hospital for their care.

"I was staying on the ward with Scarlet at night and saw first-hand their wonderful work," he added.

Couples must save 11 years to afford a home

A YOUNG couple with a child would have to save for nearly 11 years before they could afford to buy a home in the West Midlands region, Shelter says.

Research for the housing charity looked at average wages, house prices, rents and spending on essentials to show the challenge faced by those trying to save for a home of their own.

It found that couples without children face nearly six years saving across the region, leaving many with the difficult choice between getting on the property ladder and starting a family.

Single people face an even greater barrier, with a wait of over 11 years until they can afford to buy.

In Staffordshire, it would take a couple without children more than five years, a couple with children more than 10 years, and a single person almost 11 years.

The findings come as a separate Populus poll for Shelter shows that six in 10 parents across the country believe that young people's prospects for getting on the housing ladder have worsened over the last few years. It also revealed that more parents feel housing prospects have worsened compared with other key issues including youth employment and education.

Welsh songbird in Symphony double

ONE of the world's most popular classical-pop crossover artists, Welsh mezzo-soprano Katherine Jenkins, is in concert at Birmingham Symphony Hall next weekend with concerts on March 7 and 8.

The Neath-born songbird is only 34 but last autumn released her tenth studio album, Home Sweet Home, a mix of operatic arias with hymns, show tunes and pop songs.

It's been a remarkable 11-year career for the former choir girl, tour guide and model who received an OBE in 2014 for her charity work.

She has sung in front of thousands at top international rugby and cricket matches, at the Cardiff City versus Portsmouth FA Cup Final, the VE Day anniversary concert, and for Her Majesty the Queen at the 79th Royal Variety performance.

Poppy

Most memorably she helped launch the Royal British Legion's Poppy Appeal in 2005 wearing a dress made from 2,500 poppies.

Her personal achievements include sharing a catwalk with Naomi Campbell, running the London Marathon (five hours and 26 minutes to run 26.2 miles in memory of her father) and coming second on Dancing with the Stars, the American version of Strictly Come Dancing.

Fairport's Pegg is happy to get back to Brummie roots

Nice and sleazy in 50s Soho

A MAD World My Masters, Jacobean playwright Thomas Middleton's satire on a society obsessed by sex and money, is updated 350 years to 1950s seedy Soho, in a Royal Shakespeare Company touring production that gets a short run at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre.

Staged from tonight (Thursday) until Saturday, this co-production with English Touring Theatre, was one of the hits of the season at Stratford in 2013. It is directed by Sean Foley, who had West End success with The Ladykillers, which came to the Grand on tour.

A rude and rumbustious farce with live jazz music, the adapted 'city comedy' pokes fun at the haves and have-nots as a greedy young man aims to get his hands on his uncle's fortune — even prepared to disguise himself as a hooker to do so.

Sarah Ridgeway as Truly Kidman in A Mad World My Masters

By Danny Farragher

FOR most people having a sore throat which makes talking feel like chewing shards of glass would stop an interview in its tracks.

Thankfully, Dave Pegg – now the lynch pin of the seminal folk rock band Fairport Convention, is a talker and, apology out of the way, he immediately enthuses about his home town gig on Friday.

"It's going to be great coming back to Birmingham Town Hall, it's my favourite gig 'coz I'm a Brummie and so is Ric Sanders, so for us it's like going home."

Pegg was born and bred in Acocks Green and Sanders brought up in the Second City.

"We were there last year but I couldn't play because I cut a tendon in my finger. I'm playing again this year. It's almost completely recovered."

In two years time Fairport will be 50 and by then Pegg will have been with them for all but the first two - Simon Nichol is the only founding member left.

The current line up of Pegg, Sanders, Nichol, Chris Leslie and Gerry Conway, is the longest the band has had at 18 years and is in the middle of their winter tour promoting their first new studio album for four years, Myths and Heroes.

"I think the album is the best one we have made with this line-up.

"Myths & Heroes is not quite a new direction for the band, but it's certainly a more complete view of where the band is at musically, in terms of influences and there's lots of new stuff on it.

"Chris, our multi-instrumentalist, has written most of the material and we've also got songs from our friends Ralph McTell and Anna Ryder, who's from Warwick."

"It's really worked out well, there aren't any so-called filler tracks on it; we don't rush to make albums and we will only put stuff out when we've got what we consider to be really good songs."

Does that explain the four year gap between this and the last studio album?

How does Pegg explain Fairport surviving this long?

"We packed up in '79 because we thought we were too old. It was when the music business started being run by accountants; it was also the punk era.

"It was a bad idea, we were in our early 30s," he laughs loudly.

"Then we started getting back together because of the Cropredy Festival."

"We still love treading the boards. We all still love doing what we do and we hope we have kept our audience by being OK at it."

Fairport Convention are at the Town Hall, Birmingham Friday February 27. Show starts 7.30pm. Tickets are £24 plus usual booking fee.

Adam Ant is to wear Dirk's old sox

BEFORE he became a dandy highwayman, Adam Ant was at the forefront of the London post-punk music scene, as exemplified by his debut album Dirk Wears White Sox.

Ant become one of the biggest pop stars of the 1980s but his musical career began in 1975 when, as Stuart Goddard, his art school band Bazooka Joe were supported by a new group called the Sex Pistols. Goddard quit his band, renamed himself Adam Ant, went down the Roxy in London's Covent Garden, where he met his future Ants at a Siouxsie and the Banshees gig.

Charming

This led to the dark imagery of the debut in 1979. Then Pistols manager Malcolm McLaren persuaded the Ants to jump ship to become Bow Wow Wow and Adam reinvented himself as Prince Charming.

Adam Ant will revisit that debut album, plus the hits, at The Slade Rooms in Wolverhampton on April 16. Tickets cost £26.95.

It's a Dara date or catch Herring

IT is a big comedy night in Wolverhampton tomorrow (Friday) when Dara O'Briain plays a sold-out Wolverhampton Civic Hall and Richard Herring brings his Lord of the Dance Settee show to the Slade Rooms.

Hit farce One Man Two Guvnors, with ex-EastEnder Shaun Williamson, opens at the Grand in Wolverhampton on March 17.

Will.i.am

The Voice UK (BBC1, 7.15pm)

The blind auditions are complete and the coaches have chosen 12 acts each. Now begins the process of whittling them down by half for the live shows – and that means the return of the battle rounds. Emma Willis and Marvin Humes host as the coaches pair up their acts to perform against each other in head-to-head musical performances. It's then up to Will.i.am, Tom Jones, Rita Ora and Ricky Wilson to decide who to keep and who to eliminate. However, it's not necessarily over for the losers as the coaches have a chance to 'steal' a rejected artist for their own team, giving them a total of seven acts to take into the knockout rounds.

Let's Play Darts for Comic Relief
(BBC2, 9pm)

Darts players are typically a no-nonsense bunch, so it's not surprising that this new pro-celeb series does precisely what it says on the tin: famous faces play darts, in aid of Comic Relief. They're not thrown in at the deep end of the oche with no training, though – they're helped along their way by a mentor from the world of professional darts. Among those taking part are Richard Osman, who is so tall he's at a distinct advantage – playing darts for him must be like sticking a pin in a notice board at arm's length. Tim Vine, Lee Mack, Roisin Conarty, Bob Mortimer, Liza Tarbuck, Sean Lock and Martin Offiah also compete, and best of all they must each adopt their own 'darts persona' including nickname and walk-on music.

Revolution in denture provision

Suction solution is this the answer for you?

A CHAMPION for denture wearers, Steven Burchell DipCDT RCS(Eng) has spent more than ten years campaigning to "break the taboo over false teeth and prove that high-quality dentures can indeed be nothing short of life-changing."

Evangelical about what new-generation denture prescriptions can achieve, he says the palette of solutions to deliver a more youthful, engaging smile has never been so great, with traditional, high-quality handmade-on-the-premises prosthetics; suction diaphragm dentures; and implant-retained over-dentures.

"People have come to us with ill-fitting teeth, sunken cheeks and pinched lips and we have been privileged to transform their looks, providing teeth that not only are aesthetically pleasing and hugely functional, but also successfully support facial structures just like their real teeth once did. It can take years off people."

Can dentures ever be glamorous? "Emphatically, yes," adds Steven.

Strident advances in technology, improved materials and revised clinical procedures are all helping "to drive the denture revolution forward and indeed introduce a real sense of natural-looking glamour to what can be accomplished," he says.

A CUTTING-EDGE development that helps to resolve the stability problems faced by thousands of denture wearers is being offered by the Denture Clinic.

Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng) GDC108353, who heads the teams at his North Street practice in Dudley, and other clinics across the region, says the invention has the potential to resolve all-too-common denture stability issues.

Prosthetics are held in place by tiny valve-operated suction devices which are built into the prescription. A clever diaphragm principle, triggered by bite pressure on patients' gums, creates a 'sucking' vacuum between the soft-tissue mouth lining and the prosthetic.

Steven, whose clinics attracts patients from as far as Spain, the Isle of Skye and the Isle of Anglesey, says: "In recent times we have seen, what I can describe only as strident clinical steps forward, with implant-retained over-dentures, 'teeth-in-a-day' implant procedures and suction solution dentures, all coming into main-stream dentistry.

"We also have clever injection moulding technology which allows excellent fitting outcomes and our clinical solutions have never been so appealing.

"Implant dentistry as a resolve for stabilisation issues is not suitable for everyone, neither is it all patients' first preference. The Ultra Suction prosthetics system offers a possible alternative clinical solution.

The Ultra Suction system is available for both upper and lower dentures.

"The beauty of this affordable technology is that it can deliver for the right patient excellent denture retainer qualities without the invasive clinical procedures required for implant work."

Lower dentures can often be troublesome when stability is compromised by shrinking gums and bone erosion – all part of the natural ageing process. Ill-fitting dentures create painful friction problems on gums and not least, can be a regular source of embarrassment.

Reduction

Steven adds: "The device can be mounted on upper or lower teeth and because of its efficiency allows us to consider a reduction in the size of the acrylic 'plate' which can improve speech and taste.

"We have always endeavoured to be on the very cusp of clinical development and this is another 'tool 'in our commitment to always try to deliver outcomes greater than patient expectations."

PICK OF THE WEEK

You can always bank on Stephen to deliver

Crime dramas. They're ten a penny these days, but viewers still can't get enough of them

Broadchurch has only just ended and Midsomer Murders rarely seems to be off our screens, but that hasn't stopped ITV bringing back DCI Banks for its fourth series.

Not that we're complaining. The lead character has been vividly brought to life over the past few years by Stephen Tompkinson, who may not have been everyone's first choice for the role.

Banks was already well established in a series of books by Peter Robinson – but he's made it his own.

"I think the audience admire Banks' integrity and work ethic," says Tompkinson. "He's a no-nonsense policeman and doesn't have any particular quirks.

"Banks is married to his job as a detective chief inspector. He's the type of policeman you'd want on your case as he's a true professional and always gives 100 per cent.

"I think people want a policeman who isn't fanciful in any way if they are working to seek justice. People want them to do their job to the best of their ability, and Banks is the sort of man you can rely on to do just that."

The first case of the new run involves the murder of an Estonian woman who was buried alive on a piece of waste ground.

She had come to Britain to search for her missing sister who was working as a prostitute, and suspicion falls on the autistic son of her driver.

But while Banks is dealing with this difficult investigation he must also deal with personal issues.

One involves his on/off lover Annie's decision to renew her relationship with an old flame, and the other the death of his mother, which forces him to spend time with Arthur, his estranged father.

"Banks' mother's death comes completely out of the blue for him and his father," explains Tompkinson.

"Banks' brother was also killed in the second series so now it's only him and his father left.

Their relationship isn't the easiest. They have to deal with the shock of losing her whilst trying to look after each other.

"They have to get to know each other again and it's quite an emotional journey. Banks finds it difficult when Arthur points out his personality defects. At this time in his life he has to think about what he's going to do, and who he's going to end up with."

Does that mean there is no chance of Banks and Annie ever getting back together? Fans would certainly be unhappy at the thought of them staying just good friends forever.

"Annie told Banks she couldn't hang around forever as she has to think of her daughter Isla," smiles Tompkinson. "In this series Annie has moved on and renewed her relationship with David, who is Isla's father. There's not really anything Banks can do about it…

"But watching Annie walk away from him is hard – and whether he acts on that, we'll have to wait and see!"

Andrea Lowe, Caroline Catz, Jack Deam, Danny Rahim, Keith Barron, Polly Hemingway, Edward MacLiam, Badria Timimi and Steve Toussaint also star.

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Arthur & George

ITV, 9pm

Think of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, and the name Sherlock Holmes will no doubt spring to mind. Conan Doyle created the great detective, but led an exciting and intriguing life in his own right – and this three-part drama, based on a Julian Barnes novel, focuses on one aspect of it. It's 1903 and, while mourning the death of his wife Louisa, Arthur finds something to distract him – the case of vicar's son George Edalji, a solicitor imprisoned for allegedly mutilating animals and sending a series of threatening letters. Conan Doyle joins forces with his trusted manservant to clear George's name. Martin Clunes stars as the author, while Arsher Ali plays the unfortunate man he is trying to help.

TUESDAY

The Gift

BBC1, 9pm

Peter Miles served six years in prison for his part in a series of armed robberies across Bristol. He turns to Mel Giedroyc to help him find a way of making amends with those he affected. Twenty-six years ago, Pauline Stepney's daughter was born 14 weeks prematurely, and doctors had to fight to keep the baby alive while she was stuck 50 miles away at home. Unable to make regular visits, the new mum sunk into depression, until a stranger offered to drive her to the hospital every day. Pauline would now like to say thank you for an act of kindness that had a big impact on her life. Last in the series.

Horizon: Secrets of the Solar System

BBC2, 9pm

Planets are now being discovered outside the Earth's solar system on a regular basis, and these strange new worlds are forcing scientists to rewrite the history of how the Sun and the planets, satellites, dwarf planets, asteroids and comets that orbit it came into being. This programme reveals that far from a simple story of stable objects orbiting a star, the development of the Solar System was a potent combination of hellfire, chaos and planetary pinball that makes it somewhat of a miracle that Earth was created at all.

WEDNESDAY

Big Star's Little Star

ITV, 8pm

Don't ever work with children or animals – that's the golden rule in telly, they say. But the leading lights behind this superb series understand that actually, it's the little ones who make the best television – because of their unpredictability. For the producers behind this game show, the youth are comedy gold, as Stephen Mulhern grills them about their celebrity parents and hopes they will spill their deepest secrets. As the series kicks off, Ronan Keating plays alongside his nine-year-old daughter Ali, while Sheree Murphy and her six-year-old daughter Matilda, and Carl Froch and his four-year-old son Rocco also join in the fun. But which of the celebs will be the most fidgety with nerves?

Big Star's Little Star, Wednesday, ITV, 8pm

The Great Comic Relief Bake Off

BBC1, 8pm

Ed Byrne hosts the final edition, joined by four more well-known faces hoping to inspire people to get baking for Comic Relief. Comedian and actress Victoria Wood, former Radio 1 DJ Chris Moyles, model and TV presenter Alexa Chung and Asylum star Kayvan Novak are the hopefuls, who will be tackling a traybake.

THURSDAY

Banished

BBC2, 9pm

Wolf Hall may have finished last week, but BBC Two is hitting us with another prestige period drama that's about more than just corsets and romance. If the involvement of writer Jimmy McGovern, aka the man who gave us Cracker and The Street, doesn't convince you that Banished is going to be gritty, then the premise should. It's set in 1788, in the camp occupied by the first British convicts transported to Australia, and in the opening episode, Elizabeth Quinn (MyAnna Buring) is in trouble for being caught of her dormitory, while James Freeman (Russell Tovey) discovers his already meagre food ration has been stolen.

FRIDAY

The Musketeers

BBC1, 9pm

Porthos demands answers from his new-found family after uncovering the truth about his parentage. As he learns more secrets about his past, he begins to question his allegiance to the Musketeers – who in turn harbour suspicions of their own as they process the revelations in their friend's life. Can d'Artagnan and his comrades save Porthos from the dangerous route he seems to be headed down, and can they even be certain of where his loyalties lie?

Goodbye and Good Luck

Monique has been a great asset to C Residential over the years but time has come for her to try new ventures.

She is still staying in the industry with one of our competitors but we are sure that the many people who she helped over the years would like to join us in wishing her Good Luck and Best Wishes.

Vauxhall at Geneva show

By David Banner

Vauxhall is to preview OnStar at the 2015 Geneva Motor Show next month with a comprehensive package including high-speed mobile network and numerous services across its passenger car range. There will also be world premieres for the all-new VIVA and the Corsa VXR.

In the second half of 2015, Vauxhall will introduce OnStar across its passenger car range. OnStar will represent the next step in automotive connectivity in Europe. In the USA, Canada, China and Mexico around seven million customers already count on the comprehensive package, which includes Wi-Fi hotspot and numerous mobile and emergency services.

OnStar is reliable. No matter what emergency the driver may be confronted with when on the road – the system can offer assistance, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. An advisor will always be available.

Information on and access to the car is also guaranteed. Vehicle data such as tyre pressure or oil life can be accessed via the OnStar smartphone app.

Locking/unlocking can also be controlled via the app. And if the car is stolen, OnStar will 'work' closely with the police to locate the stolen vehicle.

The Vehicle Diagnostics functionality is also very convenient: OnStar will send a monthly report with the most important vehicle data and information. Furthermore, a diagnostics check can be requested at any time at the push of a button.

With the introduction of OnStar, each Vauxhall will become a powerful, mobile Wi-Fi hotspot. Up to seven mobile devices can be connected simultaneously allowing for passengers to stay in touch with family and friends via social media, stream movies or watch TV via their favourite app and play games or for the driver to work while away from the office when stationary.

Debuting at Geneva in March and arriving in the United Kingdowm in the summer, the VIVA will be the latest addition to Vauxhall's small car range joining the funky ADAM and the new Corsa.

With a name that pays homage to Vauxhall's original Viva made from 1963 to 1979, the all-new VIVA shares the original's philosophy of clean lines, durability and practicality. It is designed for modern, everyday life and at 3.68 metres long is practical and spacious, providing room for up to five people.

After first appearing in the ADAM ROCKS AIR and subsequently the New Corsa, VIVA is the latest Vauxhall to feature its new 1.0-litre three-cylinder ECOTEC engine. Specially-developed for VIVA, this 75PS powertrain is smooth, punchy and efficient, and is mated to a slick five-speed transmission.

Like its stablemates, ADAM and Corsa, VIVA is fully-connected thanks to the IntelliLink infotainment system, which allows seamless integration of Apple iOS and Android devices.

Vauxhall will take the wraps off the new Corsa VXR, its ultra-powerful small hot-hatch, at Geneva. Benefiting from the significant revisions in technology, interior/exterior design and chassis showcased in the recently launched New Corsa, the VXR is set to raise the bar for small, fast hatchbacks when it appears in UK showrooms in May.

Headline performance figures are 0-60mph in 6.5 seconds and a top speed of 143mph – quicker than the outgoing car, but more importantly the VXR produces its 245Nm of torque from lower revs (between 1,900rpm and 5,800rpm, compared with 2,250rpm to 5,500rpm for the outgoing Nürburgring and ClubSport models).

This makes the VXR a very potent performer between 50-75mph, which it can dispatch in just 6.6 seconds when in fifth gear. An overboost facility provides an additional 35Nm of torque, ideal for swift and safe overtaking.

Maximum power from its 1.6-litre turbocharged engine is 205PS, while the Corsa VXR achieves a claimed official 37.7mpg on the combined cycle with C02 emissions of 174g/km.

New BMW2 Series Gran Tourer offers top package

The new BMW 2 Series Gran Tourer is the first premium compact model to offer up to seven seats and fully meet the mobility requirements of young families.

Compact exterior dimensions go hand in hand with tremendous flexibility on the inside: a sliding second row of seats with adjustable backrest, a third row of seats that fold into the floor, and provision for up to five universal child seats are just some of the features on offer.

It is available with a choice of five turbocharged petrol and diesel engines, all sourced from BMW's latest engine family. With either three or four-cylinders, these advanced powerplants offer superb efficiency and, in the case of the 220i and 220d, a 0-62mph time as low as 7.8 seconds.

The Tourer has compact dimensions of just 4,556mm x 1,800mm x 1,612mm (L x W x H), sharing its advanced front-wheel-drive architecture – including the transversely mounted engines – with the BMW 2 Series Active Tourer. However, it comfortably accommodates up to seven people, and also offers a generous load compartment that extends from 560 to 1,820-litres.

The Gran Tourer is 214mm longer and 53mm higher than the BMW 2 Series Active Tourer, but a longer wheelbase of 2,780mm provides a further significant increase in space inside the vehicle.

The higher roofline allows occupants to sit tall and upright, affording excellent all-round vision, as well as aiding ingress and egress. Legroom, particularly in the rear, is comparable with that of many luxury cars. Three universal child seats can be mounted in the second row, and a further two universal child seats can be fitted in the third row.

By sliding the rear seat fore or aft by 130mm, either load capacity or second row knee-room can be prioritised. The backrest can also be adjusted to enhance comfort in the three rear seats or to create extra luggage space.

If maximum stowage space is required, the 40:20:40-split rear seat backrest can be remotely unlocked by pressing a button in the boot, then folded down to create an almost level cargo floor. The front passenger backrest can also be lowered to allow long objects such as sports equipment up to 2.60m in length to be transported.

Access to the load compartment couldn't be easier thanks to the large, broad and wide-opening tailgate, which can be opened and closed automatically by push button operation or, optionally, touch-free via a sensor below the rear bumper.

Five lightweight, powerful and fuel-efficient petrol and diesel engines will be available at launch, all featuring the latest BMW TwinPower Turbo technology with either three or four cylinders. All engines in the range comply with the EU6 exhaust standard. Power is sent to the front wheels via a six-speed manual gearbox; as an option, BMW offers a six-speed Steptronic transmission for the three-cylinder engines, while the four-cylinders motors can be coupled with an eight-speed Steptronic transmission (standard in the BMW 220d xDrive Gran Tourer).

All transmissions feature the Auto Start Stop function, which improves fuel economy, while the Steptronic version also offers an efficiency-boosting coasting function.

In addition to the standard SE version, the new BMW 2 Series Gran Tourer is available in three other model variants, each with their own particular emphasis: Sport, Luxury and M Sport. Moreover, a host of options are available for enhancing the specification yet further, both inside and out.

Latest Lotus hot supercar

The new Lotus Evora 400 is the latest pure and focused supercar from Lotus, combining high performance with the legendary Lotus benchmark handling. It is faster and dynamically more capable than the previous Lotus Evora leading to greater agility and a more involving drive.

By James Parker

Maximum speed is 186 mph (300 km/h) and acceleration 0-60 mph is just 4.1 seconds (0-100 km/h in 4.2 seconds). This enables the new Lotus Evora 400 to lap the challenging test track at the Lotus Headquarters in Hethel, Norfolk, a scintillating six seconds faster than the previous model.

Over two thirds of the Lotus Evora 400 is new, including its supercharged and charge-cooled mid-mounted 3.5-litre V6 engine producing 400 horsepower and 410 Nm of torque.

A new aluminium chassis incorporates a new interior and the lightweight composite body has changed significantly both front and rear.

Following the core values of the company, not only is the new Lotus Evora 400 faster than the previous model, it is also 22 kg lighter, achieved through careful and clever design and attention to detail.

This weight reduction is even more impressive considering that the supercar has more power and a higher standard specification than before.

In describing the remit for the new Lotus Evora 400, Jean-Marc Gales, Chief Executive Officer for Group Lotus plc, states: "A requirement for all Lotus cars is to be a benchmark for handling, to be the quickest car from A to B and to provide the driver with a pure and involving driving experience.

"The Evora 400 is the fastest road-going Lotus that we have ever produced, possessing performance that can only be matched by cars costing significantly more. It delivers supercar looks allied to supercar performance."

Jean-Marc Gales continues, "We have always said that to make a car better, you must make it faster and lighter.

"We have achieved this, of course, but we didn't stop there, as the considerable number of changes in the interior, chassis, engine and body design have warranted emphatically, the title of a new Lotus Evora. Our dealer network stands at 168 worldwide, which is still growing to reach 200 dealers by the end of 2015, while our sales volumes have increased by over 50 percent in the last 10 months.

"The new Lotus Evora 400 will make its mark as a significant milestone in the history of Lotus.

"Looking to the future, the Lotus Evora 400 will remain core to our product line up for many years to come, with more exciting derivatives planned within the next few years."

Production

The new Lotus Evora 400 will enter production for European markets in the summer and deliveries will commence in August this year. North American markets will receive the Evora 400 as a 2016 model year presentation in the autumn.

Combined production for all Lotus models will increase to 70 cars per week by September 2015 and an additional 150 highly skilled operators and craftsmen and women will be recruited in the next four months to accommodate this rise in production.

Prices will be announced closer to the on-sale date.

Secret formula harnesses the sun's UV energy to make cars that glow in dark

Nissan has become the first manufacturer to apply glow-in-the-dark car paint to showcase how its market-leading, all-electric LEAF is helping more and more people convert to solar energy at home.

The manufacturer worked with inventor, Hamish Scott, creator of STARPATH, which is a spray-applied coating that absorbs UV energy during the day so that it glows for between eight and 10 hours when the sun goes down.

While glowing car paint is already available, as are glow-in-the-dark car wraps, the bespoke, ultraviolet-energised paint created especially for Nissan is unique thanks to its secret formula made up of entirely organic materials.

It contains a very rare natural earth product called Strontium Aluminate, which is solid, odourless and chemically and biologically inert.

Unique

Various third-party companies have applied non-organic glow-in-the-dark paint to vehicles before but Nissan is the first car maker to directly apply such technology. Nissan's unique paint, if made commercially available, would last for 25 years.

With running costs of just two pence or less per mile to run, the UK's 7,500 plus Nissan LEAF owners have reported significant savings and are using the money they save on a wide variety of items; among the more popular of these are solar panels for the home, which decreases the household carbon footprint and means owners are also effectively charging their vehicle for free.

Although solar panels do not store energy or provide it outside of daylight, any leftover power generated during the day is fed back into the national grid and homeowners can get a Government payment for it, meaning that the overnight charge is already paid for.

LEAF owner Ian Finch is one of those who has combined the savings offered by running an all-electric vehicle with solar panels to power his home.

"Running the Nissan LEAF costs a sixth of the amount we'd pay to run a diesel or petrol car," he said. "Overall, we are probably using 25 percent less electricity thanks to our solar panels and it's a fantastic experience to be able to drive the LEAF using electricity that's been produced completely for free."

Nissan Motor GB Limited EV manager, Paul O'Neill, said: "The Nissan LEAF is a shining beacon of sustainability and the future of motoring.

"Not only is it saving our customers money in running costs but it we are now seeing how it is helping people become more environmentally sensitive by reducing their carbon footprint."

Almost 50 years in business

Wolverhampton Mazda is introducing new low-cost servicing for Mazda cars over three years and up to 10 years old.

Firstly, cars undergo a health check to ascertain what tasks need to be carried out. The result of the check is then discussed with car owners before work proceeds on an oil service and any other tasks required. Fixed prices are offered wherever possible.

This unique approach benefits all customers, especially those who drive very low or very high mileages, and technicians can tailor the work required rather than perform a 'one fits all' schedule service which saves customers money whilst maintaining cars to the highest level.

Over the years Wolverhampton Mazda has gained an enviable reputation for delivering quality service and workmanship.

The company was founded by Dennis Bunning, a motorcycle racer from Stafford with a collection of more than 90 vintage motorcycles. Dennis spent more than 48 years in the motor industry, owning dealerships holding several franchises.

Now retired, Dennis has handed over Wolverhampton Mazda to his grandson Aaron Bunning. Aaron works closely with experienced dealer principal Roy Tallam, who first joined Dennis at Stafford Mazda in 1999. Together they ensure that all customers gain the best possible service.

Roy prefers to advise customers on which car is most suitable for their particular needs rather than simply sell them a car. This means that customers buy a car they'll enjoy owning and which matches their lifestyle.

Connections with motor racing are strong at Wolverhampton Mazda and this drives the team's enthusiasm and passion for everything they do. When visiting you'll see a rare display of AJS Motorcycles, all made in Wolverhampton. It makes each visit to Willenhall Road a truly unique experience.

This independent family-run business employs a team of friendly staff, with many involved in motorsport, and sharing the company's enthusiasm for its motorsport heritage.

Roy Tallam says: "Why not give us a call, get a quote, book your car servicing and where possible, we'll offer free collection and delivery around Stafford, Stone, Eccelshall, Penkridge, Rugeley, Cannock, Hednesford and Wolverhampton WV1."

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENT
CUSTOMER INFORMATION

Please note that the deadline for our weekly Cannock Chronicle is 11.30am every Tuesday for the same weeks edition.

ALLEN
George

Sadly passed away on February 1, 2015.

I sat beside your bedside and watched you fade away my heart was almost broken as you fought so hard to stay, I knew you did not want to leave but you were never alone for part of me went with you the day God called you home.

Your loving Wife Margaret.

X

Dad, Grandad, Great-Grandad

You suffered so much and told so few, you didn't deserve what you went through.

Remembering is easy, I will do it every day, it's just the pain of losing you that will never go away.

Now you are reunited with your dear Grandson Matthew.

Your loving Daughter Susan, Son-in-law Phillip, Grand daughter Kelly and her Family and Great-Grandchildren.

X X

Dad

With tearful eyes we watched you suffer and saw you fade away, although we loved you dearly, we knew you couldn't stay.

God saw you getting weary so He did what He thought best He put His arms around you and took you home to rest.

Your loving Daughter Denise and Son-in-law Dennis.

X X

BEESON
Phyllis May

Passed away peacefully on February 19, 2015, aged 89 years.

A much loved Mother, Grandmother and Great-Grandmother, who will be sadly missed.

The Funeral Service is to be held at St Stephen's Church, Bideford Way, Cannock on Wednesday, March 4, at 1pm.

GIBBS
Eric John
Dad

Suddenly passed away February 18, 2015.

We did not see you close your eyes or hear your last feint sigh. We only heard you were gone, too late to say good-bye.

TALBOT
John

One year February 28.

We begin to remember not just that you died but that you lived and that your life gave us memories too beautiful to forget.

Love from all the Family.

WILLIS
Graham James
11.11.1935 - 24.02.14

Husband and Dad

We wish that we could see you and talk to you for a while.

We wish that we could hug you and see your lovely smile.

We wish that we could be together in the same old way.

So we will hold you in our hearts until we are with you once again.

Love Cecilia, Andrew, Tracie, and Nigel.

PAYNE
Thelma

The Family of the late Thelma Payne would like to thank all Relatives, Friends, and Neighbours, for the many cards and letters of sympathy received, following the very sad loss of our wonderful Mom.

Grateful thanks to everyone who attended the Service and for donations for The Renal Unit. Thanks also, to all District Nurses, St. Giles and Doctors, with a special thank you to Jean Shears for her kindness shown to us all.

Special thanks also to Jane Nash for a beautiful Service. A sincere thank you to Tony and All at Faragher Maguire, for the respect and dignity shown to our Mom, and to us her loving Family, at this very sad time.

God Bless you all.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Town & Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2010
NOTICE UNDER ARTICLE 13(3) OF APPLICATION FOR PLANNING PERMISSION ACCOMPANIED BY AN ENVIRONMENTAL STATEMENT
Proposal: Hybrid planning application for a designer outlet village development
Location Mill Green, Eastern Way, Cannock
Reference: CH/15/0048

I give notice that Development Securities (Cannock) Ltd is applying to Cannock Chase District Council for planning permission for Hybrid planning application for a designer outlet village development comprising:

Full application for Phase 1 - Comprising remodelling of existing landform of the site; erection of up to 23,758 sqm (GEA) of commercial units comprising a mix of uses at ground floor, including retail, restaurants/cafes and drinking establishments (Classes A1, A3 and A4) and outdoor play areas and centre management suite and retail storage areas at first floor level; diversion of water courses and sewers and associated drainage works. Associated works include hard and soft landscaping, new vehicular and pedestrian access from A460/Eastern Way including underpass and formation of two pedestrian accesses to the adjoining Mill Green Nature Reserve and associated works to include formation of part of the Heritage Trail, and upgraded pedestrian and cycle route along Eastern Way, provision of temporary and permanent car and coach parking.

Outline application for Phase 2 - Comprising erection of up to 10,389 sqm (GEA) of commercial units comprising retail uses at ground floor (Class A1), erection of multi storey car park with associated access and hard/soft landscaping (all matters reserved except access).

The application is accompanied by an environmental statement.

The proposed development does not accord with the provisions of the development plan in force in the area in which the land to which the application relates is situated.

The planning application which includes associated plans/documents and the environmental statement may be inspected at any time during normal office hours, Monday to Friday 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m., at the Civic Centre, Beecroft Road, Cannock or via the Council's website.

The name of the officer dealing with the matter is Mr M Aqbal. If you wish to discuss the proposed development with this officer, you will need to arrange an appointment.

The Council has published a Service Charter for publicising planning applications and inviting comments on them. This explains how you may use your opportunity to participate in the process of making decisions on applications including speaking at the meeting which is due to determine the application. The Council has also published booklet "Protocol For Decision Making" which explains how it will carry out its statutory planning functions. Copies of the Service Charter and the Protocol Booklet can be obtained from the Council Offices free of charge.

Any comments which you may wish the Council to take into account before making its decision should be put in writing and sent to Planning Services at Cannock Chase District Council, Civic Centre, Beecroft Road, WS11 1BG (quoting planning application reference: CH/15/0048) by 20th March 2015. Please include a daytime telephone number in your reply and quote the reference at the top of the page when calling or writing. If you respond by email please use the following email address: developmentcontrol@cannockchasedc.gov.uk and also include your postal address so we may acknowledge receipt and record your comments with the application.

Great expectations for Davis and family

The undefeated Birmingham super featherweight, who is 4-0, is set to become a father for the second time with his girlfriend, Melissa, due to give birth just 24 hours after his next bout.

The 25-year-old looks set to take on Janis Puskins, subject to BBBoC approval, at The Chase Leisure Centre, Cannock, this Saturday. Melissa is due to give birth, to a baby boy, the following day.

"We're cutting it fine!" Davis joked . "I've told Melissa to hold out as long as she can. I've told her not to come and watch the fight because the excitement may be too much for her. I don't want her giving birth in the ring.

"We already have a little girl, Caitlyn Rose, who is two so it's great to be having a little lad. We are going to call him Charlie. This is what I am boxing for; my family."

'Showtime' Davis insists that, on the night, he will be fully-focussed on the task at hand as he looks to overcome his Latvian opponent.

"Training has gone very well for this fight," He added. "After every fight we look to improve. I'm in very good shape and the weight is getting easier and easier to make.

"I was due to fight Jack Heath but he was stopped in Wolverhampton recently, so we're hopeful of facing Puskins. Eastern Europeans are always very tough guys that will not sit back for one second of the fight. It's exactly what I need to show me where I am at."

Walsall's Luke Paddock is also in action as he makes a maiden defence of his Midlands Area Light Welterweight Title when he takes on Newark's Fergus Taylor. Stafford's Rob Hunt faces Melksham's Liam Richards for a British Bronze Masters Welterweight Title.

Stourbridge light middleweight, Steven Pearce, Leeds welterweight, Stevi Mennell, Stoke light welterweight, Josh McLaren, and Waqas Mohammed complete the card.

The event is at Chase Leisure Centre, Stafford Road, Cannock, WS11 4AL.

Tickets, are £30 and £60 Ringside, are available by calling 01543 504065

Eccleshall 24 Burntwood 19

BURNTWOOD'S narrow defeat ended a winning run in the league stretching back to early December.

A strong wind played a big part in proceedings with each side scoring three tries when it was in their favour. However, the hosts scored the crucial try when they were playing against it in the second half to clinch the win.

A penalty awarded against Zak Shingler for a high tackle, saw the hosts kick to the corner. They took the line out and drove over for the first try.

On the half hour mark, some missed tackles provided good field position for the home side. They scrummaged close to the posts and drove over for their second try, which was converted.

Another infringement by Burntwood put them right back in their own 22 and following a series of close range drives, the ball was slipped out for a try in the right corner.

Burntwood enjoyed a good spell of play up to the break. Will Peach tried his luck with a long range penalty kick at goal but unsurprisingly, despite a good connection, the ball fell short.

The visitors needed a quick score to get back in the game after the turnaround and they scored 12 points in the first five minutes to give themselves every chance of success.

Peach's deep kick led to turnover possession. Hal Gozukucuk's burst put the home defence on the back foot and the ball was sweetly moved out to Aza Dunet who scored in the corner. Peach's conversion attempt came back off a post.

It was Gozukucuk himself who added the second try. Peach's long touch-finder led to a sustained attack which the Turkish international finished off with a try under the posts which Peach converted.

Eccleshall regrouped and went on two long and time-consuming drives from close quarter play by the forwards punctuated by a Peach touchline reliever which almost put Dunet away.

Goalless but Law's unbeaten start goes on

Chasetown 0 Lincoln 0

MARCUS Law's unbeaten start as Chasetown manager was extended to four matches with a well-earned point which came from a goalless draw at play-off chasing Lincoln.

The home side had the better of the first-half possession and chances with Scott Ruthven and Andrew Hutchinson both testing visiting keeper John Bateman.

Just before the interval Ruthven was denied by a last-ditch tackle from Chase skipper Chris Slater as the home side ended the half having had the better of the play. Chasetown tried their luck with long-range efforts from Richard Davies and Nick Turton in the first half but keeper Robert Peet was largely untroubled.

After the break the Scholars had the upper hand and Turton was twice denied by saves from Peet.

On the whole though, clear-cut goal scoring chances were few and far between with defences largely on top and the scoreline a fair reflection of the proceedings– a good point and a clean sheet to keep Chasetown clear of the bottom six.

Chasetown: Bateman, Smith, Beckett, Slater, Francis, Butler (Haynes 63), Brown, Davies, Turton, Sullivan, Edwards (Waite 68).

Subs not used: Ajmal, Robinson, Birt.

League places on offer for free

TIME is running out for teams to claim the free entry which is on offer to teams that join the official Cannock 6-a-side football league for a limited time.

Demand is expected to be very high for the competition, which is held at Cannock Cricket And Hockey Club on Mondays.

Leisure Leagues Ian Phillips, who has been overseeing the league admitted he had been surprised by just how popular the league had been, and he expected the remaining spaces to be snapped up very quickly.

"The league has always been popular since it started, and with this limited offer teams will fly in, so our message is get in quick."

As well as free entry – a saving of £25 – the top two in each division will receive a prize package including trophies and medals.

All teams are also able to play in the UK 6-a-side Championships, held in the summer and compete for the trophies and prizes on offer there.

The Cannock League will be officiated by qualified referees and all equipment is provided. Mr Phillips said: "All you need to do is get your entry in quickly." Visit www.leisureleagues.net

FORMER Wolves striker Andy Keogh has issued an apology after being arrested in Australia.

The Ireland international was involved in an alleged alcohol-related incident in Adelaide on Sunday night. It followed a 1-1 draw between Adelaide United and his current club, Perth Glory.

Keogh and defender Josh Ridson were both arrested for disorderly conduct and have been handed sanctions by the club.

Keogh said: "I accept full responsibility for my actions, and I also accept the sanctions Perth Glory Football Club has imposed on me.

THE Mansell Brothers, Jamie and Ryan met with heartbreak on consecutive nights last week.

On Thursday, 17-year-old Welterweight Jamie travelled to Cradley to meet local boxer Joe Shakespeare (Lions ABC).

Shakespeare took the first round as Mansell shook off some ring rust, but then Jamie got into his stride over the next two rounds and Shakespeare found himself pinned on the ropes for long periods, and had faded badly as the final bell ended this 3x3 minutes contest.

The split decision was awarded to Shakespeare baffling and these two meet again at Bar Sport, Cannock next week.

Ryan Mansell has shed an amazing 43 kg since his first bout as a Super Heavyweight three years ago. Last Friday he stepped through the ropes to contest the Central England Middleweight Title at 75kg. In the opposite corner was Champion Ryan Amos (Bad Boyz ABC).

Mansell's strength and work rate seemed to have took the title but once again, on a split decision, the bout went to the man from Nottingham. Mansell at last seems to have found hisweight

Ref could be a lucky talisman

WALSALL have been handed a potential lucky omen for their first Wembley appearance after Hertfordshire's Mick Russell was appointed as referee.

Russell's last Saddlers game was their 1-0 win over Wolves at Molineux and he will take charge of their Johnstone's Paint Trophy final against Bristol City on March 22.

Dean Smith's side won the League One game in September 2013 thanks to Andy Butler's winner with Russell booking two Wolves players and Walsall's Sam Mantom. Russell's last Bristol City game came a few weeks earlier.

Hastily arranged game is a draw

Cannock Veterans 17
Leek III XV 17

WITH the original Vet's game cancelled, Cannock accepted the hastily arranged fixture against table topping Leek.

Timmy Painting barrelled through three players to score under the posts. Lindsay converted.

Leek then ran the length of the pitch with their youthful backs to score in the corner, with the try converted and a penalty the visitors finished the half 10- 7 up.

Leek concentrated with a move through the centre channel and their No.8 scored under the posts, with the visitors converting the core was now 17-12 in their favour.

The Cannock pack then responded and secured their own line out ball from the arrow like throw of John Shirley and drove up the pitch. Mick Edmonds took control and passed to Moore who with sweetest of touches cross field kicked over their winger's head and the ball deftly bouncing up into the oncoming Mayle's arms who made the final score of the game.

Cannock Ladies 1sts 1Wakefield 5

IRONICALLY Cannock's good form since Christmas continued as they matched the league leaders for all but a devastating 10 minute period.

The visitors took the lead but Cannock got a deserved equaliser when Becca Colman deflected home a penalty corner to cap what would be a player of the match performance.

But a destructive burst by Wakefield saw them 1-5 up 10 minutes into the second half. Once Cannock recovered they competed once again and could have pulled back a couple of goals.

Cannock Ladies 3rds 2 WEM Ladies 1

A developmental Cannock Ladies Thirds played host to WEM Ladies in a friendly at a cold Chase Park on Saturday morning.

The side contained several younger players due to unavailability and movement up the club.

However, the girls did really well and gave coach Alex Hill plenty to think about for the future beyond this season as his young side ran out 2-1 winners.

The win came thanks to single strikes from Megan Lancaster and Bev Cartlidge.

Next week Cannock return to league action against ninth-placed North Stafford as they aim to chase league-leaders Stafford to the very end in the hunt for promotion to the Midlands Leagues.

Didsbury Northern 1 Cannock Mixed 18

England Hockey Mixed Trophy

Cannock paid respect to their opponents by playing proper passing hockey in some dreadful weather which saw two players leave the action.

Goals came from Aaron Wilkes and Richard Parker who notched up five each. Stuart Gooderham, Lucy Spencer, Lucy Hammond all grabbed two a piece while Sarah Martin and Tom Widdowson both scored.

Brighton 4 Blues 3

BLUES boss Gary Rowett questioned his team's desire after their loss at Brighton.

Joao Teixeira and Inigo Calderon both scored twice as the home team clinched only their second win in their last eight Championship games at the Amex Stadium.

Rowett has masterminded a revival since taking over in November, but his side are now winless in eight.

"It was not a great performance by any stretch of the imagination," he said.

"Although I was pleased with the impact that our substitutes, Wesley Thomas and Lee Novak made, a point possibly would have flattered us.

"As a team we were a bit open generally.

"This team has worked so hard to go from second-bottom and maybe now is the time to make one or two changes."

Hednesford 4 Brackley 1

HEDNESFORD Town produced a late flurry of goals, including one from the halfway line.

They earned all three points against a stubborn Brackley Town side. For long periods the visitors looked well worth their point only to be undone late on.

The home side should really have gone ahead in just the seventh minute when the ball fell kindly to former Brackley man Steve Diggin but he dragged his effort wide of the goal when well placed.

Rob Smith's team paid for this early miss as Brackley were in front two minutes later. Following good work down the left-hand side, a ball into the box found Ryan Rowe who powerfully headed home from 12 yards out.

Cannon

Hednesford responded quickly though and were level within four minutes. Jamey Osborne beat three men before finding Diggin who shot towards goal only to see the ball cannon off Marvin Robinson's face before finding the net.

In an open first half the Pitmen almost completed a turnaround before the half-hour mark when a cross from the right was met by Robinson who saw his exquisite overhead kick rattle the crossbar and bounce away to safety.

Football

As the game wore on though it looking increasingly like the Pitmen would be denied the three points they craved.

With eight minutes to go a breakthrough arrived when following a goalmouth scramble the ball fell kindly to substitute Nick Rushton, and he was able to fire home to the relief of most inside Keys Park.

Seven minutes later it was game, set and match as a lovely through ball from Osborne found Rushton who calmly rounded Turley before rolling into the empty net.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Hurst, Campion, Bailey, Kerry (Batchelor 59), Thorley, Osborne, Thomas (Todd 73), Robinson, Diggin (Rushton 77), Walker. Brackley Town: Turley, Collins, Carruther, Eddie Odhiambo, Pierpoint, Austin, Eric Odhiambo (Built 54), Whittall, Rowe, Kaziboni (Nelson-Addy 87), Moyo (Green 84)

Marvin Robinson deflects in Hednesford's equaliser during a match which they went on to win 4-1

Slump goes on as Darlo lose again

Darlaston 3 Newport 3

DARLASTON Town lost their fourth consecutive league match as on-form Newport Town came from behind for victory.

The visitors went in front in the 26th minute when Michael Allen who muscled his way past two defenders.

Mark Swann got a goal back but Darlo remain second in the West Mids Div Two table.

Boukari is not out of frame

WOLVES boss Kenny Jackett has refused to rule out forgotten man Razak Boukari playing a part in his side's final push for the Championship play-offs.

The winger has not played since 2012 because of a string of injuries but is close to a return to training after a groin problem and Jackett says he would be happy to see the £2.5m signing from Rennes back in the first-team picture.

"He's nearly back training," said Jackett. "He'll be back in full training within a week.

"Whether then he can transfer that into the Championship, we will see.

11-goal Khalsa wipe out Lockmen

Sporting Khalsa 11
Willenhall Town 0

KHALSA extended their lead at the top of the West Midlands League to five points with four games in hand over second placed Gornal.

Two Khalsa players – Craig Bannister and Ben Hadley – helped themselves to hat-tricks.

On 67 minutes, substitute Ben Hadley made it 6-0.

Geoff Morris dies aged 66

TRIBUTES have been paid to former Walsall winger Geoff Morris, who has died aged 66.

Morris scored 41 goals in 201 appearances during a nine-year stay at Fellows Park, having joined the Saddlers aged 15 in 1964.

He made history in September 1965 when he became the club's youngest ever player aged 16 and 218 days.

Though the record would later be broken by David McDermott when he faced Sheffield Wednesday in the League Cup in 2004, Morris remains the club's youngest player in a league game.

After leaving the Saddlers in 1973, he went on to play for Shrewsbury Town, Port Vale and Harriers but former team-mate.

Money is on Benik to rack up a 30-goal tally

Football

WOLVES' man of the moment Benik Afobe is being backed to hit the 30-goal mark and told he will be a Premier League marksman at Molineux.

Assistant boss Joe Gallen also believes Wolves' front five of Afobe, Nouha Dicko, James Henry or Rajiv Van La Parra and Bakary Sako are "unplayable" when they're on song in the Championship.

Gallen believes the 22-year-old is destined for the very top.

"How far can he go? There's really no stopping him," said Gallen, who was filling in for head coach Kenny Jackett at a media briefing as the head coach was ill.

"I've got no doubt, he should be looking at a Premier League career – like a few other of our players as well – with Wolves."

Afobe has now hit 24 goals this season, and with 14 games left before Tuesday night's visit of Fulham, Gallen is convinced the former Arsenal reserve can hit 30.

"Bringing him in has brought a new dimension and I'm sure he'll keep it going," said the former QPR player. Once you've scored 25 goals in a season he'll want 30, he'll be thinking he can score in every game. I think he can.

"He's got to make the right run at the right time and hopefully the players behind him find him, like Kevin McDonald did on Saturday. He's looking like he can do a bit of everything."

Gallen believes no defence can live with Wolves' front five if they click. "If they're all clicking and all on their game, I think they're unplayable," he said. "If Benik and Nouha can click and we can supply them with the appropriate service, we feel they can cause havoc.

"Benik has shown he can link the play as well, so between the pair of them we've actually got a complement."

Wolves have switched to 4-4-2 and are creating more chances.

Gallen added: "If we're going to do anything this season it's going to be off the back of scoring more than we have so far."

PITMEN SHINE IN SECOND HALF

North Ferriby Utd 0 Hednesford 2

HEDNESFORD TOWN produced an excellent second half performance as they claimed all three points.

They claimed the win away against a North Ferriby United side that have traditionally been a bogey team. The 2-0 win lifted the Pitmen to third in the Conference North table.

Football

This means they are closing in on securing a play-off place as the second half of the season trundles on.

The first period saw the Town defence having to withstand something of an aerial bombardment from the home side they came under pressure as Utd looked to get on the scoreboard.

However, the visitors also created chances of their own through Tom Thorley and Marvin Robinson taking a shot at beating their opponents at breaking the deadlock.

Swung

Their persistence paid off as the game swung Hednesford's way right on the stroke of half-time when Nathan Peat was red carded and sent off for a late tackle on Thorley.

Three minutes into the second half Hednesford went in front as the ball fell to Nick Rushton who had to take on one man defending before firing him into the net.

Ferriby almost pulled level when Nathan Jarman hit the bar.

The Pitmen made the game secure then and it was 2-0 in the 64th minute as Adam Thomas performed some brilliant play before pulling the trigger and finding the back of the net for his Hednesford side.

The final 30 minutes had Hednesford keeping their lead secure and pretty much seeing out the game to record a fine victory and keep them in the top part of the table.

The Pitmen's next game is also an away fixture as they face Bradford Park Avenue this Saturday. Kick off is 3pm.

The last time these two met in the league was in October last year where the Pitmen had to settle for a 1-1 draw and a share of the points.

Bakary Sako celebrates after scoring his second goal to make it 3-0 against Fulham

KENNY JACKETT is confident Bakary Sako will remain focused on Wolves after stealing the show on Tuesday night.

Sako was the star of Wolves' 3-0 win against Fulham, scoring two in five minutes before the break to take his tally to 10 for the season and setting up Danny Batth's 10th-minute headed opener.

The Mali international, who is out of contract this summer, decided to stay at Wolves despite heavy interest from Albion and QPR in the transfer window.

Wolves turned down three bids of around £2m, including one from a foreign club. Sako is again a wanted man but Jackett, who took the winger off after 57 minutes because of stomach cramps, is convinced the 26-year-old won't lose his spark in the run-in.

"We have done really well to keep him as long as we have," said Jackett. "Sako is very relaxed about the situation and doesn't want to talk about his future at the moment.

"With the end of the season being so close – you're probably looking at 10-and-a-half weeks of the regular season left – he is happy to focus on Wolves and do everything he can to get us one of those promotion places.

Wright's boost to Afobe

He has notched five goals in seven appearances so far, two of them in the 5-0 thrashing of Rotherham.

And Afobe said the Arsenal legend is one of the players he looks up to as he bids to keep improving.

"Ian Wright is someone I have spoken to and I watch clips of him because you've got to take things from other people," Afobe said.

"Before my first game at MK Dons, Karl Robinson (manager) called me into his office and I thought: 'Oh no, what have I done?'

"But Ian Wright was on the phone. He said 'Benik how are you? I want to work with you.

"I believe in you and all the staff have told me great things about you.'

"It was a very positive phone call."

McCarthy return to be televised

MICK McCarthy's return to Molineux has been selected for live broadcast by Sky Sports.

Wolves' clash with McCarthy's Ipswich on Saturday, April 18 has been brought forward to 12.15pm.
